STATE EXECUTIVE BOARD IS NAMED

Dress of Schoolgirls Among Topics Before the Convention.

Following a meeting of the executive board prior to the opening of the second day's sessions of the annual convention of the Indiana branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, at the First Baptist church, Mrs. Frederick Hoke, of Indianapolis, state president, announced that the Indiana organization now has a total membership of 2,000, nearly double of that of a year ago.

The board meeting was held at 8 o'clock this morning, and among other things, a message was presented from Mrs. Frederick Schoaff, national president. The following were elected to serve as members of the state executive board: Mrs. W. C. Jessup, of Mooresville; Mrs. W. W. Lane and Mrs. Van Natta, of Lafayette; Mrs. Benjamin Levy and Mrs. Fred McCulloch, of Fort Wayne.

Owing to the early assemblage of convention delegates, the board meeting was continued another session is to be held this evening, at which time a vice president is to be elected to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of Mrs. Grant Teeters, of Lafayette, and a treasurer to succeed Mrs. Ernest Cooper, of Plainfield. The board will also take up constitutional matters at the meeting this evening.

Committee Reports.
Committee reports were submitted as follows: Child hygiene, Dr. Charles S. Woods, of Indianapolis; education, Miss Adelaide Baylor, of Indianapolis; literature, Miss Anna Brochhausen, of Indianapolis; child welfare magazine, Mrs. Ada Fleming, Indianapolis; press and publicity, Mrs. Frank Wray, Indianapolis; the national meeting, Mrs. Charles A. Butler, Huntington; the fly crusade, Mrs. Fred McCulloch, Fort Wayne; simplicity and suitability in dress for girls, Mrs. James Turner, Fort Wayne; the drama league, Mrs. John Moring, Fort Wayne.

One minute addresses were delivered by the different presidents of the parent-teacher clubs of Fort Wayne. The baby health contest report has been postponed until tomorrow and no finance report was omitted owing to the absence of Mrs. Ingram Baitin, of Lafayette.

About Girls' Dress.
"The great trouble with the dress of modern girls is that when they leave the house one can scarcely tell whether they are dressed for a party or dressed for school," declared Mrs. James Turner, of Fort Wayne, in urging simplicity and suitability in dress for girls. "That is one thing we encounter in our high schools. We neglect to train the child in dressing. Modern dress for girls is a cause of great evil, and the dress of stenographers in offices and stores is the cause, indirectly, of considerable family trouble," said Mr. Turner. "We must teach the girls to sew."

CONFIRMS TALE OF NEW POLICE CRAFT

Wire-Tapping Swindle Gives
More Sensation in New York.

MANY ARE INVOLVED

New York, Nov. 14.—District Attorney Whitman confirmed the report today that he obtained from a gang of wire tappers confessions involving the payment of graft for police protection to a civilian in high authority at police headquarters, a police inspector and at least two lieutenants.

Many hundreds of thousands of dollars, Mr. Whitman said, had been obtained by the swindlers under police protection. Ten per cent of this sum and a fixed retainer of $2,500 a month, according to the confessions, had been divided among the police officials involved.

George McKee, confessor-in-chief of the gang who have bared their records to Mr. Whitman, is authority for the statement that a Chicago woman, whose identity is known to the district attorney, was lured out of $100,000 during several months by the gang in this city, and that the police received 10 per cent of this sum. McKee's confession, Mr. Whitman said, had been corroborated in many essential details by the other wiretappers, all of whom are under indictment for grand larceny.

Still more startling revelations are expected today in the confession of two other wiretappers who have indicated their willingness to tell the district attorney all they know about money being paid for police protection.

LABOR CONTRACT BINDS 12 YEARS

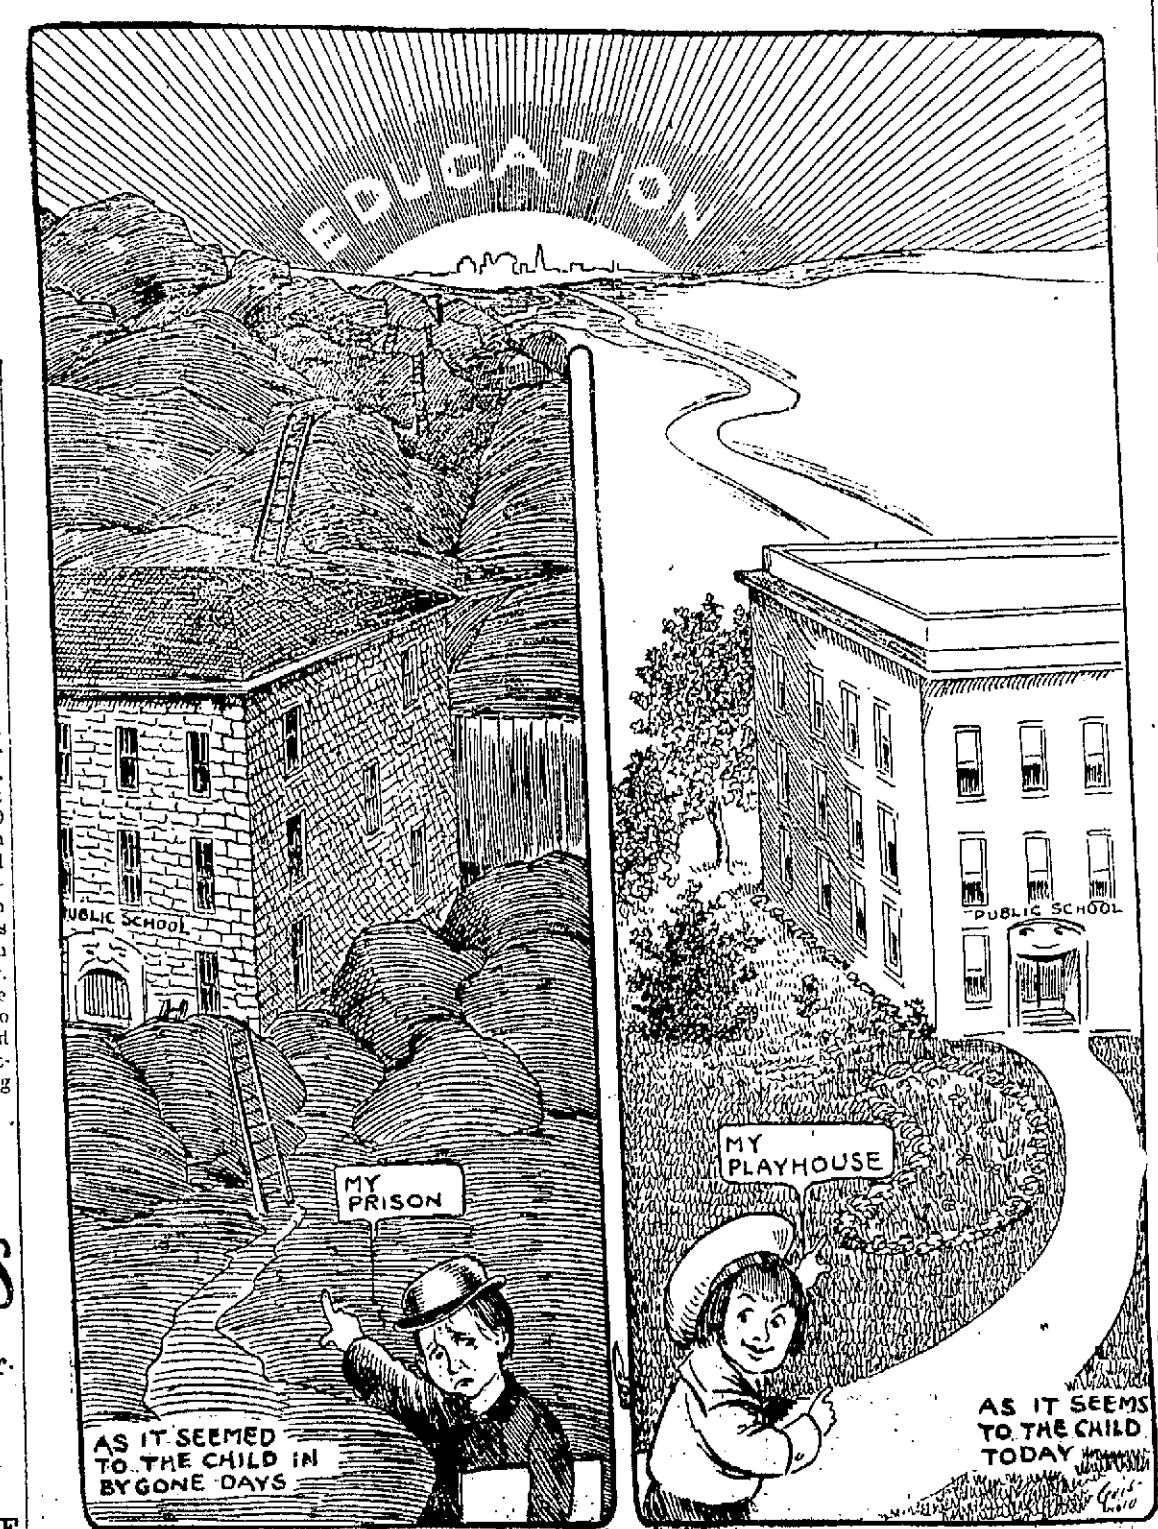

Another Indiana Interurban
Company Signs Up
With Its Employees.

UNION NOT A FIGURE

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—The Indiana, Columbus and Southern Traction company today signed a labor contract with its employees which is binding for twelve years. All of the forty-seven employees of the company signed the agreement, to which Gov. Ralston also fixed his signature.

The contract, like the one negotiated yesterday between the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company and its employees, does not provide for recognition of the union. All grievances, which cannot be settled by mutual concessions, are to be placed before the public utilities commission for adjustment. Three interurban companies now have signed contracts with their employees. They are: The Indiana, Columbus and Southern; the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern; and the Indianapolis, Columbus and Southern. The employees of the local street railway company hoped to have the second draft of their grievance ready for submission to the company late today. The company refused to consider the first draft because it demanded recognition of the union.

Play as a Factor in Education.

The visitors to the Mothers' Congress are treated today to a demonstration by the kindergarten department of the Fort Wayne schools, illustrating the method whereby play is employed as the "gateway" to education.

ADDS TWO TO STORM'S TOLL

Day Brings News of Other Vessels Lost in Great Lakes Gale.

TOTAL OF DEAD MAY EXCEED 160

Another Overturned Mystery Ship Discovered on Lake Huron.

Port Huron, Mich., Nov. 14.—Two more vessels are today added to the toll of the storms which have swept the Great Lakes since Saturday. Reports last night told of the probable sinking of the steamer Henry D. Smith, of Cleveland, in Lake Superior, and it was learned today that the freighter Major, also of Cleveland, was abandoned last night off Whitefish Point. Her crew of eighteen was rescued, however, by the steamer Byers. The ship was in a sinking condition when the crew left her.

Messages received today indicate that Lake Huron holds another overturned mystery ship besides the one a few miles northeast of here a red-bottom steamer having been reported off Harbor Beach. Many believe that she is the ill-fated steamer James S. Carruthers, of Toronto.

Where Life Was Lost.
The list of wrecked vessels that resulted in death and lives as compiled today follows:
Lake Huron wrecks—John A. McGeau, crew of 28; Charles S. Price, 28; James S. Carruthers, 23; Regina, 20; Westford, 20; Argus, 23; Hydus, 23; Scott, 24.
Lake Superior—Leahfield, 15; William Nottingham, 3; Henry B. Smith, 30 (probably lost).
Lake Michigan—Plymouth, 7.
Lake Erie—Lightship No. 82, 6.

Beside the foregoing list there are more than a score of vessels which were either totally or partially destroyed without loss of life.

Given Up for Lost.
With five big steamers given up for lost with all on board and practically all hope given up for four others that encountered the terrific storm on Lake Huron during the early part of this week, interest today centered again upon the identity of the overturned freighter which lies in the lake a few miles northeast of here. Weather conditions this morning indicated that it

DEFENDS BARE BACK WHIPPING

Brockson Quotes Bible to Justify Practice in Delaware.

URGES ROD AND WHIP

Washington, Nov. 14.—Bare back whipping of convicts in Delaware was defended in the house today by Representative Brockson, of that state, in a speech that bristled with Biblical quotations and legal citations in favor of the rod and whip for chastisement.

Mr. Brockson declared false the charge that Delaware had administered "cruel and unusual punishment," and declared that the practice of making martyrs of criminals was a curse to modern society. "I have but little patience," said he, "with any man who permits his sympathy to run with a felon so far as to forget the rights of law-abiding citizens of the state."

"The state of Delaware," Brockson declared, "being satisfied of the justice of her laws, is willing to stand alone for that which is right rather than to stand with the multitude for that which is wrong."

"All through the bible," cried Brockson, "we are taught that corporal punishment does have a good effect. 'Withhold not correction from the child, for if thou beatest him with the rod he shall not die.' he quoted, 'Thou shalt beat him with the rod and thou shalt deliver his soul from hell.'"

Mr. Brockson quoted Theodore Roosevelt as saying in 1904 when President, that certain offenders needed a special type of punishment and that "probably one form of corporal punishment would be the most adequate of meeting this kind of crime (wife beating)."

A resolution by Representative Evans, of Montana to direct the president and attorney general to bring injunction proceedings against the Delaware authorities, to prevent the whipping of prisoners at Newcastle, Del., tomorrow was left by the house without action.

Men Arrested for Scattering Ashes of Dead Friend Released.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—When nothing could be found in the statutes relating to the subject five men were released from custody last night after having been arrested for scattering the ashes of a dead friend from a high bridge in Lincoln park. George E. Mendon, said to be the son of a wealthy Boston man, died two weeks ago. His friends were obeying his last wish that his body be cremated and the ashes scattered, when

INDIANA ARMY AIRMAN KILLED

Lieutenant C. Perry Rich
Falls to His Death in Manila Bay.

MACHINE IS AT FAULT

Manila, Nov. 14.—Second Lieutenant C. Perry Rich, of the Philippine scouts, U. S. A., was killed today in a fall with a hydro-aeroplane into Manila bay. Lieut. Rich, who was the only member of the Philippine scouts attached to the aviation corps here, was encircling the Asiatic fleet, which was at anchor in the bay, when the accident occurred. A launch from the torpedo boat Deatur was the first of many craft to reach the scene of his fall. His body was picked up with life almost extinct, but it was too late to save him and he died either from the effects of the water or from the injuries he received.

The accident was due to a faulty cylinder in the motor. Lieut. Rich discovered the defect before he left the ground and at first decided to abandon his flight, but he afterward repaired the cylinder and ascended. He had risen to a height of 200 feet and was making a preparatory trip round the fleet before starting on his intended flight over the vessels during which he was to attempt to drop a bomb on one of them when his motor again broke down.

AS AN INDIANA MAN.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Lieut. Rich was born in Indiana in 1893, was appointed to the Philippine scouts in 1911. He is the eleventh aviator to die in the work of the army and navy.

In aviation accidents of all kinds the world over since 1908, 414 have met death, the toll for the present year to date being 195.

WILSON AND TAFT HAVE BRIEF CHAT

President Insists on Seeing His Predecessor in White House.

TAFT LIKES NEW JOB

Washington, Nov. 14.—Former President Taft visited the white house ofices today. He came to town to lecture before the National Geographic society.

"I just came to pay my respects," he said to Assistant Secretary Foster. "Please take my card to the president and tell him so. I know he is a busy man and I don't want to trouble him."

President Wilson, however, directed that his predecessor be ushered in immediately. The two men chatted for a few minutes, greeting each other heartily.

As the former president walked out he was surrounded by many old friends. "I am becoming more pleased each day," he remarked, "with the dignity of a college professor's life."

Today's call was Mr. Taft's third to the white house offices since March 4. A veteran writer who has kept a record of the movements of former presidents, says Mr. Taft holds the record of white house visits for the last fifty years.

ful of Early Adjustment

HUERTA BELIEVED READY TO RECEDe

Overtures by Mexican Ruler Likely to Pave Way to Settlement.

Mexico City, Nov. 14.—Confidence in the early accomplishment of the aims of the United States toward Mexico was expressed today by Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires. The overtures made by the Mexican minister of the interior, Manuel Garza Aldape, yesterday are taken as evidence that Huerta is ready to recede from the stand he had previously taken.

Although Mr. O'Shaughnessy was uncommunicative on the subject and refused information as to any phase of the latest development, it was understood that he expected to have a further conference with Senor Aldape late today. At this conference it is expected that the ideas of Washington as to the wisdom of John Lind, the personal representative of President Wilson, returning from Vera Cruz to the federal capital, or receiving a committee representing Provisional President Huerta will be made known to the representative of the provisional president.

Dispatches from Washington published here today state that the probability of a settlement of the Mexican question without resort to arms, which during the past week appeared to be a forlorn hope, created an atmosphere of optimism and greatly relieved the tension.

while they are young, for when they get old enough to enter social life they will not learn. If a girl don't learn to sew while young she will never learn and every mother should be ashamed who allows a daughter to become married before she has learned to sew.

Mrs. Turner also took time to score the wearing of low shoes in winter time and also the habit of "silk stockings" in cold weather.

"Silk stockings are pretty to look at, but they don't need to be shown in the winter," she said. Among other things advocated by Mrs. Turner were pockets in the clothing of school girls, woolen undergarments and cleanliness of body and clothing.

District Reports.

Reports were received from the following district chairmen: Dr. Mary E. Jackson, of Hammond; Mrs. W. O. Crouse, of Lafayette; Mrs. William Runyan, of Huntington. Mrs. Crouse reports that the Lafayette district boasts a total membership of 792, and the convention tendered her great applause for her activity in organization work.

Mrs. Simon Ackerman, chairman of the extension department, announced that 200 letters had been sent out to persons interested in mother and parent-teacher club work and also announced a list of speakers, any of whom would be sent to any city where an organization was desired.

Mrs. Ackerman will meet with her committee this evening to take up organization work.

It Is the Spirit.

In presenting a report on the national congress meeting, Mrs. Charles A. Butler, of Huntington, declared that what took place was not so much of interest as was the attention given the different subjects, showing that the mothers of the country are heart and soul in the work. She said it was not so much what was done and said at the convention, as it was the spirit manifested, that made the meeting a success. She also urged the mothers present to stand back of the juvenile court and probation workers in Indiana. She closed by encouraging the press and stated that the newspapers of the country have done unlimited good for the cause of mothers and parent-teacher organizations.

Swat the Fly.

Mrs. Fred McCulloch, in discussing the fly crusade, said that every mother should make all possible efforts to rid their homes of flies. She declared that the fly crusade is a distinct part of the work of the organization.

"Flies are a menace to children's health," she declared. "Don't let a single one of them live over winter. Swat them now and swat them all the time."

Children and Movies.

"Mothers are very foolish to keep their children away from moving picture shows," declared Mrs. John Moring, in presenting a history of the work of the Drama League. "Don't attempt to keep them away, for I believe they will go at any risk. What mothers should do is to encourage the best shows. Let the children go to the reputable motion picture theaters and let them give plays themselves."

Mrs. Moring declared that the theater is a place of education and that the drama should be encouraged. In closing she said that an effort should be made for the observance of Shakespeare's birthday in the schools.

The Resolution Committee.

The report of the committee on resolutions will be presented tomorrow morning by Mrs. Frank Wray, of Indianapolis. This will be the first time in the history of the Indiana branch of the congress that resolutions occupied any time in the convention. According to Mrs. Wray, chairman of the committee, a portion of the resolutions, which in all probability will be adopted without a dissenting vote, will be practically the same as a platform for the organization. The report of the committee, to be made early during Saturday's session, is awaited with interest by all delegates.

Kindergarten Festival.

More than five hundred people attended the play festival given this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Minuet dancing academy by children of the kindergarten. The program included eighteen numbers. Miss Florence E. Schiefer presided at the piano, Perry Scholer played the cornet and Master Charles Weimans the drums.

Between 2:30 and 3:30 o'clock this afternoon the delegates witnessed the presentation of educational picture films selected some time ago and operated today through the machine at the Colonial theater. The reels were selected as model picture show films for children patronage. Later the delegates went to the public library, visited the children's rooms, and at 5:15 o'clock they were to attend a story hour session. The stories are told under the supervision of Miss Margaret Shulze, assistant to the children's librarian.

The Lakeside Plan.

Miss Flora E. Wilbur, principal of the Lakeside school, surprised the delegates during the morning session in relating the details of a system of hygiene instruction and department that has been inaugurated in the Lakeside school, in which the parents report weekly on the hygienic progress and development of their children.

Numerous delegates asked Miss Wilbur as to the success of the plan and were informed that thus far nothing of a discouraging nature had been encountered. At the close of the session she was pressed for further details concerning the plan.

Music for the morning session was furnished by a trio composed of Miss Reynolds, Mrs. Pollak and Mr. Simons. The Civic League.

One of the principal features of the Saturday morning meeting will be an address on "The Junior Civic League" by Miss Maud Van Buren, of the American Civic association. Miss Van Buren is an interesting orator and her subject is of special interest to Fort Wayne, as an effort is soon to be made to organize a local branch of the association.

Mrs. John Moring, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced this morning that dinner and luncheon is served daily at the First Baptist church, and that the public is invited to have dinner with the delegates attending the convention.

It is regarded as practically certain that Indianapolis will be chosen for the 1914 convention.

Tonight's Program.

The program this evening will open with an organ recital by Frederick G. Church. Rev. Arthur J. Folson will pronounce the invocation and music will be furnished by a chorus of 125 people from the Bloomingsdale school. Speakers and the subject of their addresses are as follows:

"What the State is Doing and Wishes to Do for the Home." Dean W. N. Black, of Indiana university, and Dr. Stanley Coulter, of Purdue university; "Good Roads and Their Relationship to the Social, Educational and Religious Life of Rural Communities." Charles Carroll Brown, of Indianapolis, secretary of the Indiana Good Roads association.

A delightful musical program will be rendered by a quartet composed of Miss Edith Nickel, Mrs. W. C. Cleary, Clinton Wilson and Ferd Urbahn.

Conserve the Young.

The official opening of the convention was held Thursday evening at the First Baptist church, when more than five hundred men and women listened to addresses by Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, and Dr. Caroline Hedger, of Chicago, who were the principal speakers. The program opened with an invocation by Rev. Edward W. Averill following an organ recital by Mrs. B. W. Rhamy. The Boys' Glee club of the high school rendered several numbers and solos were rendered by Miss Mabel Carter and Mrs. Nathan Erber.

State President Mrs. Frederick Hoke, of Indianapolis, presided as chairman, and the addresses of welcome were beautifully delivered by Mrs. Simon Ackerman, chairman of the state extension committee and president of the Mothers' club in Fort Wayne, and Professor J. N. Study, superintendent of the Fort Wayne public schools. Mrs. Charles A. Butler, of Huntington, gave the response in behalf of the organization.

The Girl Question.

"When on a street car or elsewhere you hear a mother tell her child that she will call a policeman if the youngster does not behave, she is telling a lie," declared Dr. Hedger, during the course of her address on the subject, "The Education of the Girl in Relation to Infant Mortality."

"The majority of our children are dominated by fear and this fear becomes fatal to girls from a standpoint of economic efficiency. We as mothers, must get to the point of intelligence where we don't use the boggy man as persuasive in attempting to make the child obedient."

Dr. Hedger spoke on both the economic side and the race side in the education of the girl and declared that if the six million working girls ever expect to be successful, they will have to get a fluster of efficiency they have never obtained heretofore. She declared that nervous breakdowns do not mean well for business efficiency and that a chocolate eclaire and cup of cocoa, the lunch of a typical girl, are stimulants and not constructive substance. She said that a girl can not maintain her nervous balance by living on hot chocolate and dill pickles.

The Race Condition.

"We have let our girls, as a race factor, almost alone," said Dr. Hedger, and as a result, the American birth record is but little better than that of France and the only reason our deficit does not appall the public more forcibly is because of the foreign birth rate. To be a race producer, a girl must be properly developed, satisfactorily and properly mated and have a proper mental attitude toward reproduction that allows her to become a mother. The school, the home and every factor of higher intelligence should co-operate in educating the girls.

"We are breeding a race of intellectual but flat-chested women who cannot feed their own offspring," continued Dr. Hedger, "and the school and the home have both overlooked a great many things that they must pay attention to in the future. We have too many ignorant mothers."

In closing Dr. Hedger declared that our modern schools, as a whole, pay but little attention to the survival of the race and to reproduction. She admitted, however, that Indiana is far ahead of some states in this respect.

What Hygiene Can Do.

"It is a foolish notion that the majority of us have, that we can violate the laws of nature, take a few tablets of some kind and be well," declared Dr. J. N. Hurty in speaking on "What Hygiene Can Do for Mankind." "There is no such thing as a cure. There is a rest for diseases of all sorts, but when one gets a disease, he cannot be cured. The human race must learn not to depend on cures, but on prevention, and youth is the time to serve the laws of nature and make a healthy body."

"Every doctor is not a hygienist, but every doctor would become one if the people would learn to pay for prevention rather than for cure. It costs about thirty cents for the prevention of any illness, on the average, and on the same basis it costs thirty dollars for a cure. We bring on disease by our own persistency in wrong-doing, but we must conform with the laws of the Lord and nature in preventing disease by hygienic methods."

"Hygiene proposes that the race stream be not polluted. Hygiene can clean the race stream by looking after the young. The science of hygiene does not know how to prevent all diseases but it can learn, and it does know how to prevent some diseases and knows how to keep the life race stream open and clean."

Dr. Hurty, as usual, had a fund of statistics to prove his claims and took time enough from his regular subject to discuss patent medicines, which he believed to be the source of disease, evil and degeneracy of the human race. He paid a tribute to motherhood in telling of the efforts made to secure certain laws that were turned down by the last legislature, that if passed would have been of vast assistance to mothers of the state.

Closing Program.

The program for Saturday, the closing day of the convention, is as follows: 8:45—Music. Chorus of Hanna School.

Addresses: "The Aims, Methods and Ideals of Parent-Teacher Associations." From the standpoint of the Teacher. Miss Anna Brockhausen, Supervising Principal, Indianapolis. From the standpoint of the Parent. Mrs. Fredrick Hoke, President.

MAY SUGGEST COMPROMISE.

Washington Expects It as Next Move of Huerta Followers.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Secretary Bryan exchanged messages early today with Charge O'Shaughnessy about the reported concessions which members of Huerta's officials have intimated he would make to the United States.

Efforts to recall John Lind from Vera Cruz to Mexico City to discuss the American memorandum demanding that the Mexican congress should not convene, were taken here to indicate that the group surrounding Huerta would suggest a compromise arrangement whereby the new Mexican congress would meet but not pass upon concessions or other measures calculated to continue Huerta in power. Officials, silent about the inner negotiations, were optimistic. It would not surprise official circles here if an announcement of Huerta's intention to resign were withheld, until satisfactory arrangements could be made for the choice of a provisional successor acceptable to the constitutionalists.

While the United States might refrain from making any suggestions of its own, it would endeavor to act as a medium of communication through William Bayard Hale with General Carranza and Charge O'Shaughnessy at Mexico City, so that there might be an exchange of views upon various names.

There was a report early today that Foreign Minister Moseno might be the man selected, though the views of the constitutionalists as to Moseno's acceptability were not known.

Secretary Bryan declared today that none of the instructions to John Lind contained any statement of the alternative the United States would pursue in the event of Huerta's failure to meet this government's demands for his retirement. Mr. Bryan made this statement in response to inquiry as to the truth of a recent report from Vera Cruz that Mr. Lind had delivered a note to General Huerta informing him that if he had not abdicated the presidency by tomorrow noon, the United States would blockade Mexican ports. Mr. Bryan declared that at no time had this government stated what its course would be if Huerta refused to accede to its demands for complete elimination.

Mr. Bryan likewise declined to say what course of action the United States would pursue if the Mexican congress is convened tomorrow in the face of representations by this government that it will not recognize any of that body's acts as legal. The secretary said that thus far no foreign power had interposed any objections to the course the United States is taking in its endeavor to restore order in Mexico.

would be possible for a diver to go down and examine her before night.

The five steamers for which all hope has been abandoned are:

The John A. McLean and the Charles S. Price, both of Cleveland; the James S. Carruthers, of Regina and the Wexford, all of Toronto. The four vessels the destruction of which has not been so definitely determined are: The Harry B. Smith, the Hydrus, the Argus and the Isaac M. Scott, all of Cleveland.

Life Loss Exceeds 160.

The loss of the eight ships with all the crews would make a life loss of more than 180.

Wreckage from both the Hydrus and the Argus has been washed ashore and the Scott has not been heard from since she sailed away in the storm. She was due to report in Chicago yesterday, it is said.

The general opinion this morning was that the unidentified overturned steamer will be found to be either the Price or the Regina. This opinion was based upon the fact that a body from the Price was found with a Regina life belt upon it. The dead from the Regina and the Price were also washed ashore at the same point and other circumstances would indicate that the two boats had met in collision and immediately gone down, one completely disappearing.

Much criticism is being heard in marine circles against the federal authorities who, it is alleged, have failed to assist in identifying the sunken vessels, wreckage from which is strewn along Lake Huron's shore for a radius of ninety miles on both sides. It is charged that not since Sunday's storm have the authorities made a concerted effort to patrol the shore.

The overturned steamer is also proving a serious menace to navigation, it is charged, but it has been left without a marker to guide steamers passing up and down the lake. It is claimed there are many captain and wheelmen who are not yet familiar with the location of the derelict.

OTHER CHURCH NEWS

The members of Salem Reformed church gave a reception Thursday night to their newly appointed minister, Rev. F. W. Knatz, at the church parlors. The grand affair was planned by the Men's and Ladies' societies of the congregation and was a complete surprise to the minister.

In the afternoon the Ladies' society held their regular meeting and served a lunch in the evening from 8 to 7 and following this the reception was held. The affair was planned so cleverly that the minister did not have the faintest idea of what was going to happen.

Rev. J. Bosch, of St. John's Reformed church; Rev. P. Ruhl and Rev. Winters, of the orphan's home, delivered addresses which were very interesting. Rev. Knatz then expressed his gratitude to the members of the congregation. The orchestra, choir and quartet of the church rendered some fine selections displaying the musical talent in the church. After the program, was given dainty refreshments were served in the reception room by the ladies of the church.

WILL CLOSE SUNDAY NIGHT.

Revival Services at Third Church of Christ Near Final Day.

The revival at the Third Church of Christ, conducted by Jno. T. Brown, will close Saturday night. It has been the most successful one held for years in the eastern part of the city. The work has been given a great impetus and the whole cast and has felt the good influences of the revival.

"Saving a Thief" was the evangelist's theme last night. There was a large audience present and several young men were baptized at the close of the services. The speaker said:

"Much has been said by those who are not in favor of baptism, about the thief being saved without having been baptized. This fact, however, does not invalidate baptism. Nothing is said about his having repented, then why not say we can be saved today without repentance. The fact is, he was born, lived, stole and was saved under the Jewish dispensation. We are not living under that today. We are living under the Christian dispensation and, if saved at all, must be saved under the provisions of the dispensation under which we are living. Some of you are quibbling about baptism and other things which God has commanded. Get right with God. Submit your will to His. The world can never be saved until it is willing to listen to God and to do what he commands. An old lady said to Spurgeon one day, 'That sermon of yours that you preached five years ago at the chapel was the best I ever heard.' She did not remember the subject or the text, but she went home and broke into pieces the short yard stick she had in her store and put one in the proper length. That is the sort of sermon that counts, one that causes people to live right."

There will be a baptismal service to-night and fifty pictures of the Life of Christ. There will be a musicale and lecture Saturday night. Mr. Brown will deliver his popular lecture on "Optimism and Pessimism." There will be a collection, no tickets sold. This is his best lecture. There will also be one hundred colored slides of scenic America and a musical program.

DEATH IS CERTAIN.

Rev. Anderson Speaks of Death as the Gateway of Eternity.

Rev. Edward P. Anderson, the gifted Jesuit missionary, delivered a masterly sermon to a gathering of men which taxed the seating capacity of the Cathedral last night on the subject, "The Gateway of Eternity." He treated of death as the gateway, basing his sermon on the text, "Death, where is thy victory?"

In its development the speaker presented to the men three particular points for their serious consideration. That death is certain, that death can happen but once, and that death is the entrance into eternity.

Impressively Father Anderson urged upon his attentive listeners the truth that this life is not our home and that death opens and implies the notion of immortality and eternity and that the only thing we have to fear in regard to death is that thing through which death was invented, sin.

This evening the sermon will be delivered by Father Rosswinkle, whose topic is, "The Great Catechism."

Synagogue Nearing Completion.

The Jewish synagogue which is being built at the corner of Wayne and Monroe streets will be ready for dedication before the first of January. The plasterers have begun their work and the building is already under roof. When the church is dedicated an elaborate religious program will be carried out.

Entertainment is a Success.

Nearly 700 people crowded into the Emmaus hall last evening to listen to the entertainment given by the ladies of the church and all were pleased with it. The short sketches, "Sparsmekit Ist Kein Getz" and "Tom's Arrival," are not only exceedingly comical, but instructive as well and both were well given. Another small play, "Ordering lunch," which was given in song, was very interesting and received hearty applause.

The entertainment will be repeated this evening.

ANNUAL REPORTS TO SHOW GROWTH

Interest in Coming Y. M. C. A. State Convention in Fort Wayne.

WHAT IS BEING DONE

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—Much interest attaches to the annual report of the Indiana Young Men's Christian association, which will be presented to the convention in Fort Wayne, December 5, 6 and 7, because of the unusual progress made in new buildings during the past year and the consequent growth of facilities, equipment and efficiency throughout the state.

Every section of the state is represented in the building movement, the total figures for which stand to date at approximately $3,000,000. In respect to buildings and equipment in at least three Indiana cities an official of the state committee said:

"The Gary association is phenomenal—always has been. There is no other association like it anywhere in the country. But there are others just as remarkable in their way. Muncie, for instance, and South Bend, also, have association buildings and facilities that lead the world for cities of their size. That sounds like a pretty strong statement, but it can be thoroughly substantiated, I believe. Nowhere in the United States are there such modern buildings and equipments for every kind of association work as in these three cities."

Muncie and Gary. At Muncie over a quarter of a million dollars have gone into the association building, $150,000 of which was contributed by Ball Bros., of that city. At South Bend a boys' building has been added to the association building, making a total investment there of something over $400,000—much of which was contributed by the Studebaker Vehicle company. By an arrangement with the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad at Gary, the association there has been enabled to extend its work into two important railroad divisions—Kirk Yards, in Gary, and Roseville. This work will be conducted under the supervision of the Gary association. Besides recent new buildings at Crawfordsville and Evansville and an addition at LaPorte, the latest entrant in the association field is Auburn, where a thoroughly modern association building costing over $50,000 is being put under roof. This building was the gift of Charles and Frank E. Eckhart, father and son, carriage and automobile manufacturers. Though Auburn is a city of only 4,700 people, the Young Men's Christian association building and equipment there are equal to a city of 20,000 people. There are sleeping accommodations for thirty-five men, besides the usual athletic features, reading rooms and other conveniences.

With the admission of the new association at Auburn, the number of such organizations in the state is brought up to 43. There are 18 city, 6 railroad, 1 city and railroad, 2 colored and 21 student associations. Twenty-nine of these associations employ 83 secretaries, assistants, physical, educational and boys' work directors. The total membership of the associations of the state is expected to reach 15,000 before the end of the year.

Interest in Fort Wayne. Particular interest centers in the Fort Wayne convention because of the fact that Fort Wayne, with its population of 70,000, is the largest city in Indiana without a city association. It is at present provided with a railroad association, but the facilities and equipment are inadequate for the needs of the community. Because of the steady development of manufacturing interests, railroad expansion, the influx of foreign-born men and the general crowding of country people toward the city, the convention in Fort Wayne next month will no doubt have a significant bearing on the local situation.

The state executive committee, which has arrangements in charge, expects to welcome at Fort Wayne a larger number of representative business men from all parts of the state than it ever has before. In recent years the association has been able to show such striking results as a community asset that it has attracted many busy and successful men who would not otherwise have been attracted.

"We are immensely gratified with the type of representative business men who form our state committee and attend our annual conventions," said a state official.

"When you have prominent lawyers, bankers, railroad presidents and surgeons, professors, merchants and manufacturers of the state interested in the work to the extent of giving their time, money and energy toward its promotion, it shows pretty well that the association is reaching the citizen who knows efficiency when he sees it and is anxious to aid in building better men."

This same official pointed to the important educational work which the state association carries on among prominent men of affairs, and referred particularly to what has come to be known in Indiana as the Charles W. Fairbanks parlor conference, which was attended by sixty-three of the leading business and professional men of Indianapolis and seventeen representative men from other cities in the state.

One of the oldest business men of the state is still serving as treasurer of the association. He is John F. Wallick, retired district superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph company at Indianapolis, and at one time an employer of Thomas A. Edison, when the latter was working "at the key." Mr. Wallick has served as treasurer almost continuously for the past thirty years. He was first elected in 1884 at Fort Wayne and it is taken as a matter of course that he will be re-elected this year.

Declare War on Colds.
A crusade of education which aims "that common colds may become uncommon within the next generation," has been begun by prominent New York physicians. Here is a list of the "don'ts" which the doctors say will prevent the annual visitation of the cold:
"Don't sit in a draughty car."
"Don't sleep in hot rooms."
"Don't avoid the fresh air."
"Don't stuff yourself at meal time. Overeating reduces your resistance."
To which we would add—when you take a cold get rid of it as quickly as possible. To accomplish that you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy most excellent. Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

TRIES "MOVIE" STUNT; DIES.
Boy Puts Head in Noose, Slips and Breaks His Neck.

Oil City, Pa., Nov. 14.—In his desire to perform the athletic stunts he had seen soldiers do on a moving picture screen Edward Linehan, 11 years old, son of Patrick J. Linehan, died of a broken neck the other day. Young Linehan had placed his neck in a noose made of a necktie and was trying to draw himself upwards. It is believed that the boy's feet slipped and he fell, the necktie drawing tight with the sudden jerk and dislocating his neck.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Jeremiah 29:1-13.

1 Now these are the words of the letter that Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem unto the residue of the elders which were carried away captives, and to the priests, and to the prophets, and to all the people whom Nebuchadnezzar had carried away captive from Jerusalem to Babylon:

2 (After that Jeconiah the king, and the queen, and the eunuchs, the princes of Judah and Jerusalem, and the carpenters, and the smiths, were departed from Jerusalem:)

3 By the hand of Elashah the son of Shaphan, and Gemariah the son of Hilkiah, (whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent unto Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon) saying,

4 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, unto all that are carried away captives, whom I have caused to be carried away from Jerusalem unto Babylon;

5 Build ye houses, and dwell in them; and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them;

6 Take ye wives, and beget sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters; that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seek the peace of the city whither I have caused you to be carried away captives, and pray unto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shall ye have peace.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel: Let not your prophets and your diviners, that be in the midst of you, deceive you, neither hearken to your dreams which ye cause to be dreamed.

9 For they prophesy falsely unto you in my name: I have not sent them, saith the Lord.

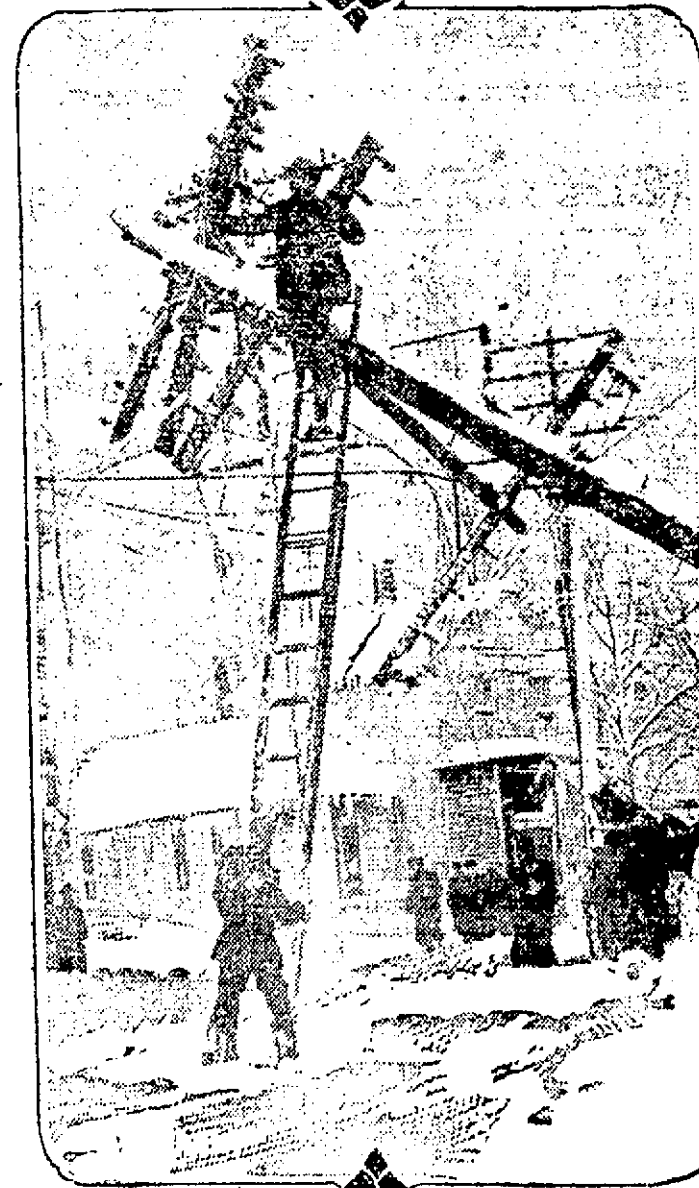

10 For thus saith the Lord, That after seventy years be accomplished at Babylon I will visit you, and perform my good word toward you, in causing you to return to this place.

11 For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, saith the Lord, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you an expected end.

12 Then shall ye call upon me, and ye shall go and pray unto me, and I will hearken unto you.

13 And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart.

CLEANING UP CLEVELAND AFTER BIGGEST NOVEMBER STORM IN HISTORY.

Herbert Quick Says Today:

"Roosevelt's Hint at Rio Janeiro Regarding Monroe Doctrine is Important in Mexico Trouble."

(By Herbert Quick, Author of "On Board the Good Ship Earth," etc., and editor of Farm and Fireside.)

(Copyright 1913 by the Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

At Rio Janeiro the splendid capital of that South American nation, which is as great in area as United States—Brazil—Colonel Roosevelt the other day reiterated the Monroe doctrine—with modifications.

The modifications will repay careful study and earnest thought.

"One careful doctrine," said Roosevelt, speaking of the international rules which should govern the Western hemisphere, "is which we all agree is that America shall not be treated as offering ground for fresh colonization or territorial aggrandizement by any old world power."

This is the old-fashioned Monroe doctrine. Just as it was laid down by James Monroe.

But Roosevelt said something more. "All of the American nations," said he, "which are sufficiently advanced, such as Brazil and the United States, should participate on an absolute equality in the responsibilities and development of this doctrine, as far as the interests of the western hemisphere as a whole are concerned. It must be made a continental, and not an unilateral doctrine."

Unilateral means one-sided. The Monroe doctrine has always been one-sided—with the United States on one side and the rest of the world on the other.

Roosevelt's suggestion amounts to this: that the "B. C." group of strong South American governments—Argentina, Brazil and Chile—and, perhaps, Mexico and others, as they shall become strong, shall be associated on equal terms with the United States in upholding the Monroe doctrine.

It amounts to a declaration for the public ownership of the Monroe doctrine. I suspect that on his voyage to Brazil the colonel carried with him a little book just issued from the Yale university press at New Haven. Its title is "The Monroe Doctrine an Obsolete Shibboleth," and its author is Dr. Hiram Bingham, of Yale. The colonel would not have gone on a speaking tour to South America without taking that book with him.

Dr. Bingham says: "If it is necessary to maintain order in some of the weaker and more restless republics, why not let the decision be made not by ourselves, but by a congress of leading American powers?"

The Monroe doctrine is an offense to these strong, and ambitious nations. They feel about it as a strong boy feels when a grown stranger offers protection from more or less imaginary dangers. They say, "Protect us! We can protect ourselves, we'd have you know!"

There is a hint in this for Wilson, Bryan and the senate. If Brazil, Chile and Argentina were to be called in to take a part in the pacification of Mexico, it would offend Mexico far less than our intervention. It would be an assurance to the Mexicans and the world that the movement is unselfish. It would be the first step toward making the Monroe doctrine a unifying, instead of a divisive thing for this continent.

PRESS ON TRUSTS AND TRUST LEGISLATION.

Business World.

Washington Star: "When the trust question is taken up by congress it will receive almost as much attention as the currency question is now receiving. Likewise will the business world be again greatly stirred."

McReynolds' Argument. Chicago Inter Ocean: "Attorney General McReynolds' argument in the prosecution of the International Harvester company presents a remarkable construction of the Sherman law."

The National Law. Pittsburgh Post: "The meat magnates can not defy the natural law of supply and demand. These men know that when there is an ample production of cattle the price regulates itself."

Combination. Wilmington Evening: "There is truth in the contention that combination operates to reduce the cost of production and therefore means lower prices. But under the reign of high protective tariffs, the trusts not only controlled production but enjoyed a monopoly."

The Beef Trust. Troy Standard Press: "The American (beef) trust is in a fair way to control the entire meat production of the world, leaving all peoples on earth, so far as this single necessity is concerned, at its mercy."

Battling as Ever. Houston Chronicle: "This (the trust) is undoubtedly the gravest problem now faced by the American people. For twenty years its difficulties have been recognized and its solution demanded, yet today it seems as baffling as ever."

Tariff Revision. Philadelphia Press: "If reports are correct the president is going to bring a lot of trust-busting legislation at the coming regular session of congress. It seems from this that the tariff revision, which it was promised would bust the trusts, hasn't been doing anything in that line so far."

Competition. Rochester Post-Express: "The only way thus far discovered of holding ground in check is to limit its earning capacity by enforced competition."

Seeking a Party Reunion

Republican leaders all over the country are now exerting all their political diplomacy in the ticklish task of attempting to secure a reunification of the shattered elements that followed the explosion little more than a year ago when Colonel Roosevelt led his doughty warriors out of the republican camp and proclaimed the birth of a new party. They are planning and scheming and seeking to contrive ways and means to bring the elephant and the bull moose together under one yoke, and in all candor they are facing a most discouraging assortment of probabilities. The outlook is not at all promising for the reunion.

One rather amazing phase of the effort thus far is that there has been proposed no change of principles that would afford a common basis of action for the old-line republicans and the newer progressives. The national committee is dickering toward reducing the south's undue representation in republican party affairs, but it has announced no purpose to unload the big reactionaries who stood in the way of progressive policies at Chicago. It is flirting with some of the more important figures in the progressive movement, but it has evidenced no desire to surrender control to them or even to permit any interference in the form of dictation as to party policies or party principles.

If there is ever a reunion of the republican and the progressive parties, we do not believe it will be the progressives who will wear the garb of sackcloth and ashes. They have already accomplished too much to quit the battle at this stage. Their work has been effective though their party organization met defeat. To a larger measure than we perhaps realize the action of the progressives has tended to make democracy more responsive to the people's will and more serious in the carrying out of its pledges. It has resulted in the installation of an administration that while bearing another party label is most assuredly progressive in its ideals and in its efforts. In the light of political developments of the past year, there seems little likelihood that the progressives will be inclined to surrender the ground already gained. It is much more probable that whatever moving is done toward the mountain will be staged by the reactionary patriots who directed the nomination of Mr. Taft at Chicago.

When the city council passed an ordinance prohibiting riding upon the rear platforms of street cars in Fort Wayne, and insisted upon its enforcement, it contributed largely to the added comfort of passengers. The edict aroused some little protest for a time from those who had been in the habit of packing the platform and hampering ingress and egress from the cars, but today the order is accepted not only without complaint, but with positive commendation. Now let the council proscribe smoking in the cars, for entirely too many men persist in the practice to the annoyance of other occupants of the cars. This is particularly true in the newer type of cars in which the conductor, stationed at the entrance of his car, is unable to exercise continuous supervision over all sections of it. An ordinance to prohibit smoking in the cars would make a fine starter toward a clean-up in this direction.

Experts estimate an annual saving of $100,000,000 in fire losses and the reduction of the cost of the nation's fire departments by at least half its present total if the present nation-wide campaign for fire prevention be continued for ten years. Indiana is making a splendid start in the efforts of Fire Marshal Longley and the educational crusade of the fire underwriters, and the figures are alluring enough to make it worth while for the general public to lend its active co-operation to the fire-prevention effort.

BAD CHECKS LAND TWO IN BASTILE

Dr. Mace and Maud Champ Are Bound Over to Higher Tribunal.

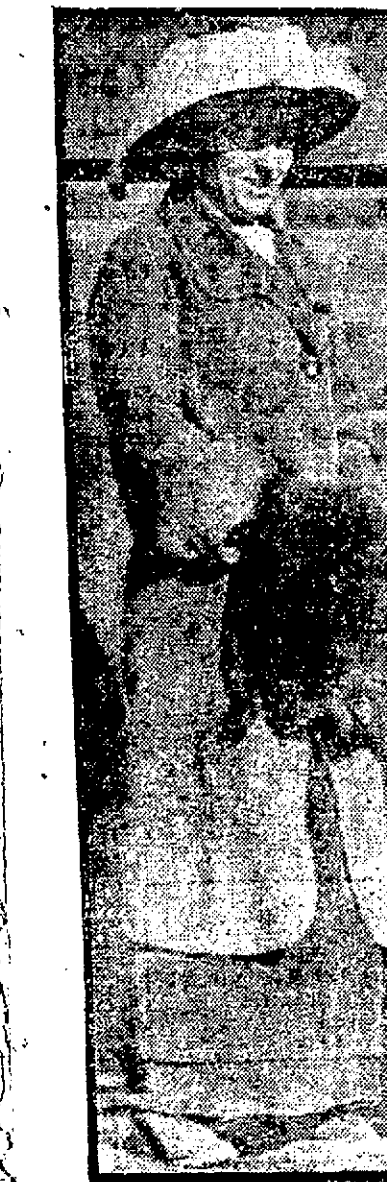

NEWS OF THE POLICE

Dr. Robert N. Mace and Maud Champ, each with a weakness for heavy hand-writing on bank checks, were bound over from the city court to the circuit court today. Bond was fixed at $500 in each case and as neither could furnish surety both are in jail.

It was shown that Dr. Mace was issuing and cashing checks on the Bank of Wayne after he had been notified by the cashier that his account was overdrawn. The evidence established, however, that Dr. Mace had made several hundred dollars of deposits to the credit of his account. He insisted that he believed he had money in the bank to meet the checks he drew. Dr. Mace said he was a graduate of the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania and that he had practiced for two years in Huntingdon, Pa., but had come west and gone to railroad for the benefit of his health. He had been residing in Fort Wayne some nine months. He admitted that he was not licensed to practice in Indiana, but had nevertheless hung out a sign and written prescriptions.

Maud Champ, who goes by the name of Stella Payne, pleaded guilty to forgery. She was arrested late last night by Sergeant Crawley. Detective Sergeant Ward Hall, who had been working on the case, learned that the woman was at a house on West Superior street, and notified headquarters to pick her up. She passed a check for $10 on the Getz, Sharp & Orr grocery, West Columbia street, November 8. After her arrest last night the woman denied to the police that she had done anything wrong, but this morning when questioned by Detective Hall and Police Matron Finch she made a full confession and when arraigned pleaded guilty. The woman came here with a man named Payne and represented herself as his wife. Payne left the city last night. Mrs. Champ is married, but is separated from her husband. Her home formerly was in or near Hicksville, Ohio.

SAVING BABIES IS ITS SLOGAN

Society for Prevention of Infant Mortality Meets in Washington.

SUMMER DEATH CAUSE

Washington, Nov. 14.—With "saving the babies" as its slogan, the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality met here today in its fourth annual convention. Dr. J. W. Schereschewsky, of Washington, D. C., declared that the most significant phenomenon in connection with the mortality of infants was the great increase in deaths during summer months.

"This increase," he said, "is most marked in countries where the winters are cold and the summers hot. The great mortality of infants can be explained by three hypotheses only: The infants are killed directly by the heat, second by the action of stale or dirty milk and the contained bacteria and, lastly, by specific infections."

Future activities for the prevention of infant mortality, he said, must be concentrated to a greater extent on the question of housing, especially with respect to overcrowding, narrow streets and ventilation.

"Breast feeding," Dr. Schereschewsky added, "must still be regarded as almost, if not the most important factor in reducing infant mortality."

HENEY CALLS TWO THINGS NEEDFUL

Famed Prosecutor Favors Municipal Ownership Strongly.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE, TOO

San Francisco, Nov. 4.—Francis J. Heney, the noted attorney who prosecuted the "land fraud" cases of Oregon and the celebrated "graft prosecutions" of San Francisco, is strong for municipal ownership.

"The hope of American democracy lies in municipal ownership and women's suffrage," said Heney. "The American business man does not have time to study the social and economic needs of his city. He is too busy making money. His wife does."

"The average American is perfectly content to permit the five profit-paying public utilities—the gas, electricity, water, telephone and great street railroads—to be operated by private enterprise, while he, a citizen, assumes the eight non-paying and exceedingly expensive public utilities—in many cities, parks and playgrounds, fire, police and street departments, sewer system, hospitals and jails."

"Most men fear that the public ownership of profit-making utilities would increase political corruption. It would not. My close personal study of the exposures that have taken place in the past twenty years of corruption in our large cities convinces me that the principal cause of corruption and inefficiency in municipal government, if San Francisco had had municipal ownership there would have been no graft prosecution. Privately owned public utilities played politics for privileges. That is generally what causes graft in every city."

"Corporation owners and politicians are not bad men. They are sorely tempted—the temptation of the pocket interest. Let us deal with them as with children—correct the corrupt man by taking the dangerous toys from him. Municipal ownership is the answer."

As she sings, she thinks of the time when he, an impetuous young man, gambled and drank too much, and of the night when his father, becoming angry at the boy's continued dissipation, ordered him from the house. Her mother's heart yearns for the boy, who has never returned. Later, the father dies, and the mother, now grown very old, is forced to leave her home on account of debt. She goes to the city to search for her son. Her little store of money is soon exhausted and she is ejected from her boarding house. She wanders out on the street, and as the Salvation Army comes by, one girl notices her crying. The girl goes to her and learning her story, takes her along to the Salvation Army Refuge.

She wanders out on the street, and as the Salvation Army comes by, one girl notices her crying. The girl goes to her and learning her story, takes her along to the Salvation Army Refuge.

As she sings, she thinks of the time when he, an impetuous young man, gambled and drank too much, and of the night when his father, becoming angry at the boy's continued dissipation, ordered him from the house. Her mother's heart yearns for the boy, who has never returned. Later, the father dies, and the mother, now grown very old, is forced to leave her home on account of debt. She goes to the city to search for her son. Her little store of money is soon exhausted and she is ejected from her boarding house. THE GEM.

"MOTHER."

The old mother is sitting at the organ playing and singing the song that is ever in her thoughts—"Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" The words of the song unfold themselves in visions of her boy when he was a little lad going to school, and the days when he knelt at her knee, praying.

As she sings, she thinks of the time when he, an impetuous young man, gambled and drank too much, and of the night when his father, becoming angry at the boy's continued dissipation, ordered him from the house. Her mother's heart yearns for the boy, who has never returned. Later, the father dies, and the mother, now grown very old, is forced to leave her home on account of debt. She goes to the city to search for her son. Her little store of money is soon exhausted and she is ejected from her boarding house. AFFAIRS NOW IN HANDS OF COURT

Receiver Named for Christian Franke, Charged With Bad Dealing.

NEWS OF THE COURTS

In the superior court today Judge Napp appointed the German-American Trust company receiver for the affairs of Christian Franke, a building contractor. The suit for a receivership was brought by Henry Franke against Christian Franke, his daughter Minnie and his wife, Christina. It is alleged that the defendant is insolvent and that the plaintiff is set out in notes to fall due. It is set out that the defendant conveyed his real estate with a purpose to defraud his creditors and has sold $1,500 of stock in the German-American National bank and concealed the money. A suit to set aside the conveyance of the real estate was begun by Henry Franke several days ago. The order appointing a receiver directs the receiver shall take charge of all the defendant's affairs of business and make and file an inventory of assets and liabilities within ten days.

Gets Divorce, Child and Business.
In the superior court Judge Napp issued a decree of divorce to Ida Welton from Henry Welton, gave her the custody of a small child which she is directed to support, awarded her the household goods and turned over to her the Welton restaurant in Nebraska. The business has been for several months in the hands of a receiver, whose final report was approved yesterday and the receivership dissolved.

Notes of the Courts.
The will of the late Maria S. VanHoozen, of Abbot, has been filed for probate. After devising $500 to be equally divided among three grandchildren, the entire estate is left to her two children—William N. VanHoozen and Susan Parnin.

The will of the late Harvey K. Turner, former county commissioner, has been probated. The entire estate, real and personal, is left to the widow, Jane H. Turner, during her lifetime, after which it is to be divided, share and share alike, among his children—Herman E. Shook, W. Jane Comer, Harriet M. Miller and William H. Turner. The last named is named executor.

In the will of the late Valentine Weisenburger it is directed that $10 be paid to his daughter, Elizabeth, as that is all he wants her to have, and that $200 be given to his son Emil, and $300 to his sons Charles, Herman, August and Emil. All the residue, real and personal, is then to be divided between Emil and August, the former of whom is named as executor.

William H. Noll has begun suit in the circuit court against the Morris Custom Tailoring company for rent, $250 being the demand.

In the superior court Fannie J. Goepel, executrix of the last will and testament of the late Charles F. Goepel, has sued the Hanna-Brackner company for $650 on a note.

Clark and Harry Beaty, doing business as the Beaty brothers, have sued Jonas Smith, et al., in the superior court to foreclose a mortgage, demanding $350.

James B. White has commenced suit in the circuit court against Thomas S. Warr, et al., on a complaint to foreclose a mortgage. The demand is $7,500.

A suit for ejectment and to quiet title has been doled in the superior court by Anna Dolan against James J. and Minnie D. Sullivan.

Alleging breach of contract, Dudley A. Tyng & Company have brought suit in the superior court against William Noll for $300.

WANT OBSTRUCTION REMOVED.

The board of county commissioners will order the Wabash Railroad company to remove the piling in the St. Mary's river where the tracks cross the stream. This piling is the remains of false work employed when the tracks were elevated and the iron bridge raised. It is alleged in a $30,000 damage suit now pending against the Wabash railroad in the federal courts that this piling was an obstruction that caused the overflow of the Vesey greenhouses. The commissioners inspected the scene yesterday. The county infirmary was found ship shape by the commissioners who made an official visit yesterday.

BADLY HURT, BUT MAY RECOVER.

Affray of Colored Men in Garrett Almost Results in Murder.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 13.—Charles Williams, the negro whose head was crushed by a blow from a club in the hands of John Kelley, another negro, at Garrett, yesterday, is desperately injured, but Dr. Thompson, at the Garrett hospital, says the man has a chance to live. Kelley is in jail here and seems quite indifferent to the outcome of the murderous assault he made on Williams. The negroes had been drinking the night previous and quarreled. Kelley saw Williams asleep in the bunkhouse, and seizing a large piece of plank gave the slumbering man a crushing blow on the head, fracturing his skull. Kelley was not at all disturbed today when told that Williams would probably die.

"BE AN ENGLISHMAN? NO! NO! THEY DON'T PLAY BASEBALL."

New York, Nov. 14.—"It's useless. I can't make an Englishman of him." So Mrs. William Waldorf Astor told her friends when she arrived in America from London recently. She was speaking of her six-year-old son, William Waldorf Astor III, who accompanied her. "He's mad about baseball," she explained, "and he likes America better than England, because they play only cricket over there." The boy's father is a member of the English parliament; his grandfather is known as the American expatriate because he renounced his citizenship in the United States and became a naturalized Englishman. English, therefore, may mean the Astors back from Europe, may mean the Astors if William III. has his say about it.

'It's Only Weakness That Copies Weakness,' Says Ritchie in Third Article on His Climb to Top Rung of Pugilistic Ladder.

Third Article.
(BY WILLIE RITCHIE.)
World's Lightweight Champion.

I ascribe my success in the ring altogether to the constant cure I have given my body. Keeping it like a perfect machine that hums true.

It's a wonderful feeling to have a strong, clean efficient body that you can count on all the time.

Watch the envious, wistful eyes of fat, flabby men when they look upon the like fighters in the ring, or the eyes of dissipation-weakened youths flocking to the training camp. They tell an eloquent story of what a man thinks of an efficient body.

I saw a little shaver at my training quarters some time ago. He was puny and chicken-breasted—just as I had been at his age. But that boy was a comer.

When the other boys offered him a cigarette he pushed it aside in a superior way.

"Ritchie never smoked," I heard him say. "and I'm going to be like him."

"What, you?" I jeered the others. "Listen to the shrill, will you—thinks he's going to be a fighter." And they yelled in derision. I told that youngster that I, too, had a chicken breast and spindling legs at his age.

He had two big things in his favor: He didn't smoke cigarettes, and he didn't let the other boys, older and bigger ones, push him aside. He had a strong-will spirit, and that's what counts most. He didn't even flinch when they ridiculed him.

Smoking, in my estimation, is more injurious than drinking for boys. Start it early and the poison sinks into their very bones. Later the "smart" kid starts drinking; when he thinks he has got to have man's weaknesses to be a man.

But there is only one which copies weakness. Boys who want to be top-notchers can't afford vices.

I have reached the top of my profes-tion because I kept my body clean all the time, not periodically. It's the same in school, in business and the prize ring.

I am lightweight champion of the world because I kept my mind fresh, my body hard and my will protected from the habits which detract from the prize ring.

Any boy who does that is bound to succeed to make good at what he sets out to do.

This is my advice to the boy who works: If you are in an office all day get up early and take a good walk before going to work. Of course you can't do that if you stay out late at night. Exercise before an open window for ten or fifteen minutes—anything that excites the muscles and makes good red blood. Breathe deep. Take tepid baths every morning and gradually change to cold water. They make you alert. Join a swimming club. You can sleep with your windows open.

For the boy who attends school:

Nothing better than a long, brisk walk in the morning. Eight full hours of sleep in an airy room. Make it airy even if dad has to take the roof off the house, for plenty of oxygen is absolutely indispensable to health and vigor. Not enough parents seem to realize that.

Just prior to my last big battle with Rivers I was in the open twenty-four hours of the day for six weeks, walked, ate and slept out in the fresh air. It is the greatest conditioner that I know of.

TINKER TO GIVE ROWAN A CHANCE

Picks Wickland for Center on the Cincinnati Team of 1914.

LIKES THEIR WORK

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—Big Jack Rowan, the west side hurler, and Outfielder Al Wickland, both of this year's Vets team, made fine impressions on Manager Joe Tinker, of the Reds, in their fall trials with the Cincinnati club. Each stands a fine chance of winning a regular berth under Tinker next year. If Rowan does, he will hang up a mark for other pitchers to shoot at, as his case is the first where a pitcher has returned to the big leagues after spending two years in class B baseball.

Tinker was here for the minor league doings and felt mighty hopeful about his club for next year. The way Rowan and Wickland played for him has a good deal to do with his cheerfulness. He banks heavily on both of them.

"Jack pitched mighty nice ball for us," said Tinker. "He worked like a pitcher should. His change of pace impressed me quite a bit and I was surprised at the curve ball he now has up his sleeve. We couldn't get him any more, and he would have been a sensation. As it was, his good work was overlooked by many because he didn't win, but I'm one man who noticed he is a good pitcher and I expect to hold him."

Manager Johnny Nease, of the Vets, had quite a long talk with Tinker about Rowan and gave him a pointer or two on the proper way of handling the pitcher. Rowan isn't a hard fellow to handle by any means, but when he is pitching it is necessary for a catcher and infielders to watch him to prevent him from working too fast. Nease quoted Rowan as saying he would be glad to work strong, not because he sold him to Tinker, but because he wants to see one of the most deserving fellows in baseball get the opportunity to advance himself.

"Wickland will be most useful to some kind of an accident or sickness that prevents him from being his real self," Tinker said. "He can surely cover that outfield to perfection, and I think he will prove an able blitzer. He's the best looking kid I've seen in a long while. I'm for him with all my heart because he is a hard worker and always anxious to learn. Besides he has more ability than most of the recruits that hit the big show."

THERE ARE FOUR TYPES OF PITCHING THAT HAVE BEEN DEVELOPED IN BASEBALL IN LAST SIXTY YEARS.

Pitching is the keystone of baseball. When it tumbles the structure crumbles. "Besides the vastness of the importance of this position, the dash of infield and outfield play," says F. C. Lane, in the Baseball Magazine.

The improvement in baseball has marked time with the development of pitching. As the batter overtook the pitcher, new methods were adopted. But in sixty years only four types of pitching have been born, namely:

Speed, the curve, the slow ball and the spitball.

Speed, the earliest type, still rules favorite. When curves are being hit 99 out of 100 pitchers fast back upon speed because it is easily controlled.

In a class by himself as a speed pitcher is Walter Johnson. His speed is dazzling. He reveals in it. Speed and control make him the world's greatest pitcher. Others have speed, but use less freely. Contrary to opinion, speed is not wearing, because it is the natural delivery, while the curve, slow ball and spitball are acquired.

The arm was designed to propel small missiles at great speed, not to throw curves. Strength and nervous energy in abundance are necessary to great speed, but its use demands only a normal expenditure of heart. It is a fact that men who depend chiefly upon speed outlive other pitchers in usefulness.

The curve revolutionized baseball and more than doubled the efficiency of the pitcher. Many consider it their best card. Of the great boxers, only Walsh, Johnson and Falkenberg ignore the curve.

The successful curve "breaks" sharply just in front of the plate. The "round-house" curve, easily followed by the eye, is worthless. The curve is delivered to either side of the plate, "breaking" over or directly at the plate, "breaking" to either side. The batter is fooled into letting an apparently wild ball slip over for a strike, or into striking at an apparently good ball, which curves out of reach.

"The curve pitchers pay the price. Muscles, bones and curbs of his pitching arm are wrecked and his effectiveness is of brief duration. He suffers from sore arm and after a few years his arm is crooked at the elbow.

"The slow ball is the mystery of baseball. It is regarded with suspicion even by its masters, who call themselves lucky when it is not hit in the fence. Even when speed and curves are being hit, the average pitcher resorts to more speed, neglecting the slow ball.

Mathewson developed the slow ball to its greatest efficiency in 1906, when, his speed and curves having lost their edge, he developed the fadeaway and gained a new lease on life.

Legend Duane, the Detroit slow ball wizard, says the ball is effective, because the batters do not expect it. They are set for curve or fast ball and the floater catches them unawares.

Chesbro introduced the spitball to the major leagues, but "Ed Walsh immortalized it." He showed its possibilities. No delivery is so baffling. Walsh delivered the ball waist high and it broke below the batter's knees. No batter can follow the erratic course of the spitball, hence its effectiveness.

The man who masters the spitball must abandon everything else and also pay the price in a short, if brilliant, career. The spitball demands oceans of speed, and because of the use of saliva, it soon wears out the pitcher's arm. Walsh is through out the pitcher's arm. Walsh is through out the pitcher's arm. Walsh is through out the pitcher's arm.

CARR PUSHED FOR PRESIDENT.
Krause is for Him as Head of Federal Baseball League.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—When the Federal league club managers meet in Chicago tomorrow to elect a president, the candidacy of Charles C. Carr, of this city, will be urged by J. Edward Krause, president of the local Federal league club. Before leaving for Chicago today President Krause said that Carr was qualified for the position in many respects. "On account of his central location," said Mr. Krause, "and the fact that he knows baseball from top to bottom and has the confidence of the players as well as fans, I think he will make an ideal president for the league."

ROBBINS TO RUN SHAMROCK CRAFT

He and Hofer Own Club Rights and Have Not Transferred Them.

ARRANGED FOR PARK

John Vincent Robbins, one of the two surviving owners of the Fort Wayne Shamrock baseball club, today got into communication with Claude H. Varnell, owner of the local park, and will arrange for the rental under the same conditions it was held by Mart Cleary, who has announced his final retirement from the leadership of this most exceptional independent organization.

At a meeting held on Tuesday night Cleary formally announced his retirement, but the matter was not made public for the reason that it was thought best to close up the business and get it shaped for the future before giving notice of the change.

"Monte" Hofer and Robbins own all of the property, the right to the name and they will form a new organization and conduct the club along the same lines it has been operated heretofore. Both are old hands at the game and will be able to preserve the same standard that has made the club one of the best of its kind.

The former manager had agreed to act in an advisory capacity to the new owners and get them started in the right path, and he is fully capable of doing this.

Mart Cleary announced his retirement a couple of years ago, but his associates would not stand for it, and he held on until his business forced him to quit. He has not the time to give to baseball because the Cleary & Bailey establishment needs all his attention, as it has grown.

Independent baseball lost one of its most faithful, earnest and honest promoters when Mart Cleary retired. He was not in the game for profit but he liked it and stuck to it at a great personal sacrifice. His motto was to do the right thing always and he followed this faithfully through seventeen years at the head of a club and retired with a reputation that is both unusual and highly praiseworthy.

SEVENTY-FOUR NEW MEMBERS.

Country Club Had Excellent Year and Is in Good Condition.

Seventy-four new members were added to the roster of the Fort Wayne Country Club and the report read at the annual meeting last night showed the financial condition of the organization to be excellent.

Fred E. Hoffman was elected president for the year, Arthur F. Hall vice president, E. F. Keller secretary, and C. E. Bond treasurer. Mr. Hall with A. S. Bond, Fred H. McCulloch, B. Paul Mossman and H. L. Landenberg are the directors.

Following the election the trophies for the athletic events of the season just closed were awarded as follows:

Franklin golf tournament—C. H. McKee, winner; W. E. Balston, runner-up.

Keglonia golf tournament—S. C. Bond, winner; F. L. Smock, runner-up.

REINHART ENTERTAINS CLUB.

Shields Clothing Company Club Members Were Guests at Dinner.

Adam A. Reinhart, of the Shields Clothing company, entertained at his home on East Jefferson street last night members of the Shields Bowling club of St. Mary's league.

His guests were Clarence Alter, Carl Dargatz, Herbert Kocks, Elmer Wunderlin, Henry Adler, Gerald Halstein, Ed Reinhardt, Albert Pranger and Charles H. Spalding. The guests found the table draped in mourning, the idea of Miss Margaret Reinhart, daughter of the host, to remind the members of the unpleasant fact that they lost three straight games in their last series. An excellent menu, prepared by Mrs. Reinhart, sustained a hard attack made by the guests.

CONCORDIA READY TO OPEN.

Will Play Huntington Basket Ball Team at the College Gymnasium.

Concordia college basket ball team will open its season in a game at the college gym tomorrow night against Huntington. Instead of the concrete floor that made the game dangerous and proved a great handicap to basket shooting, a wooden surface has been put in, new seats added and better heating facilities arranged.

This will eliminate all of the hardships under which the club has carried on its game, and promises better basket ball and more comfort for the patrons. In the preliminary game the Fort Wayne high school and the Concordia second club will be the contestants.

FAMOUS JOCKEY IS KILLED.

New York, Nov. 14.—T. H. (Tommy) Burns, internationally famous as a jockey, either jumped or fell beneath an elevated train in Brooklyn today and was ground to pieces. No one witnessed the tragedy. The last person to see him was the station ticket seller, who remarked him pacing up and down the platform just before the train pulled in. His fur-lined coat and hat were found on a bench. Diamonds, a silver cigarette case, a considerable sum of cash, a bankbook showing deposits in a Berlin bank and a contract to ride there next season were found on the body. Burns spent last season abroad but had been living at Sheepshead bay of late.

For Bright Eyes and Clear Nose

Remarkable Catarrh Cure That Gets Right into the Affected Parts and Stops Gatherings.

S. S. S. is a Wonder for the Eyes, Nose and Throat.

It is definitely known that catarrh can be cured by the simple process of inoculating the blood with antitoxin remedies that stop inflammatory conditions throughout the mucous linings of all the organs of the body. This is done with the famous Swift's Sure Specific, or as it is widely known, S. S. S. It is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, through all the veins and arteries, and enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that actually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.

You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided clearing of the air passages, a steadily improved nasal condition, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely catarrh often infects the entire system. You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores.

For special advice on any blood disease write to the Swift Specific Co., 223 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not delay to get a bottle of S. S. S. from your druggist. Always insist that you want S. S. S. and nothing else. Beware of imitations to sell you a substitute.

BOYS DEFY CHIEF JUSTICE.

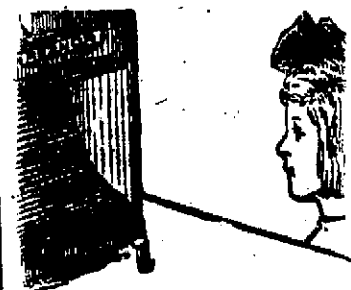

Keep Up Fight After Supreme Court Head Cautions Them.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The highest authority in the United States, Chief Justice White, of the supreme court, met his Waterloo the other day when he witnessed a battle between two newsboys. At first the justice rather enjoyed the fray, but presently it got too hot and he interfered.

"Better stop, boys," he cautioned. "You will get arrested."

Still they did not stop, and the chief justice turned over, in his mind, injunctions, mandamus, quo warrant, and other legal checks that might be effective. Finally he realized that boys will be boys and turned away.

NO COMPROMISE AS TO CURRENCY

President Will Have His Own Plan Made Law or None at All.

CHAT AT WASHINGTON

(By Gilson Gardner.)

Washington, Nov. 14.—No compromise will be accepted by President Wilson on currency legislation. The senate has won its first point in seriously delaying legislation at the special session. The president will give the senate a chance to accept his bill or reject it. He may be defeated flatly and get no currency legislation, but he will not accept a compromise on any of the fundamentals—and the Vanderbilt Wall street proposition goes to fundamentals.

A breach is widening between Senator O'Gorman and President Wilson. The fact that Dudley Field Malone, just appointed collector of the port of New York, is O'Gorman's son-in-law, does not bridge the chasm. O'Gorman supported McCall, the Tammany candidate for mayor of New York. That is about all that is necessary to say of O'Gorman. His son-in-law supported Mitchell and stood loyally with the administration. O'Gorman is one of Wall street's stumbling blocks in the way of the administration currency plan.

The lettre de cachet in vogue previous to the fall of the Bastille had very little to do with immigration laws as admitted, according to Louis Post, a man or woman can be grabbed and buried under the present law without recourse just about as easily as was the habit under the famous French process.

His name is John Joe Cannon. He is a protégé of Uncle Joe Cannon. John is preaching the gospel of "get together" to the progressives. "How can we ever get back into office if we don't get together," says John. "And look at the jobs the democrats are grabbing off," he adds.

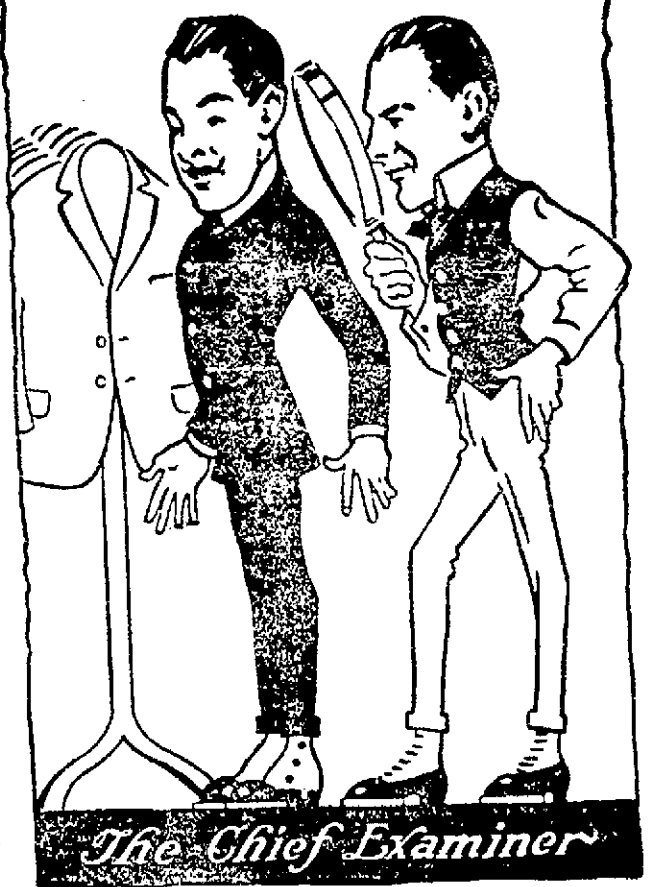

Progressive party leaders are greatly encouraged by the recent elections. It was an encouraging surprise. The fact that the progressive party came second and the republican party third in Massachusetts, where the lineup was clear, has been accepted as most significant. The old republican party is certainly doomed. Even more significant is the fact that twenty-three progressives were elected to the New York legislature in a campaign where Tammany and the Sulzer issue were apparently the overwhelming interests. Progressive mayors were elected in Ithaca, Syracuse and Johnston, and in a number of second-sized Ohio cities. And this was all without Roosevelt as a candidate or even in the field as a speaker.

Complete returns gathered by the agricultural department show that the corn crop this year is 2,463,017,000, as compared with 3,124,748,000 bushels last year. The price of corn this year is 70.7 as compared with 58.4 last year. This corn price is reflected, of course, in the price of pork into which most of the corn is converted, and this accounts in part for the increasing cost of meat.

Potatoes this year came to 328,550,000 bushels, as compared with 420,647,000 last year, and the price this year is 69.6 as compared with 45.5.

Wheat this year is 763,233,000 bushels, as compared with 730,267,000, and the price is this year 77 as compared with 88.8.

Hay is this year 63,460,000 tons, as compared with 72,001,000 of last year, and the price has advanced from $11.20 to $12.25.

MOUSE STEALS FALSE TEETH.

Finally Meets Fate in Office of Long-Suffering Dentist.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 14.—A predilection for false teeth was the undoing of a mouse that for weeks had been busy hiding molars, and incisors in a Verona dentist's office. The other day it was caught in a trap "with the goods."

The mysterious disappearance of loose false teeth had been going on for some time, much to the annoyance and wonderment of the dentist, until one day an office attendant opened an old drawer in which she kept her knitting. In one corner was found a collection of the missing teeth half hidden among the knitting. That the knitting had been known by "live" teeth was evident enough. The following day when the drawer was opened there lay another freshly deposited false tooth, a good-sized molar that had disappeared from its proper place some ten feet away.

Then the trap was set. The house, evidently devoid of "wisdom" teeth, walked right into it. Between its own teeth it firmly held a false one.

INCURABLE DISEASES

So-Called; Now Cured

LATE DISCOVERIES IN MEDICINE.

The United Specialists following along lines of research work are having wonderful success at their Fort Wayne institution, located at 124 East Washington boulevard.

Many so-called incurable cases have been cured by them, and scores of so-called surgical cases have been fortunate enough to escape the surgeon's knife by taking treatment from the master specialists. Their work is undoubtedly a great boon to the afflicted. These specialists examine any person who is in earnest free of charge.

Of course it is hardly necessary to call attention of the readers of these columns to the many letters voluntarily published in this paper by many of their patients. Perhaps the most gratifying part of their endorsement comes from the many men who have been treated for years by other physicians and specialists without results. A number of these cases have been entirely cured within from one to three weeks. All this simply proves that the cure of chronic diseases depends on the ability to properly diagnose any condition and knowing what to do for the case after it has been properly diagnosed.

Since these specialists are establishing permanent institutions here, they are depending on the reputation gained by cured patients to maintain their wonderful practice. Perhaps no institution has gained such a wonderful reputation for cures in so short a time as have the United Specialists. The truly wonderful part of this is that they make no wonderful pretenses themselves in the newspapers but the great bulk of their business has been referred to them or has come from the many published letters from people who have been treated by them.

The United Specialists have kept themselves abreast of every advance in medical science and have proven to many people of Fort Wayne that many so-called surgical diseases can be cured through the scientific administration of medicine. Of course, the successful treatment of disease must depend on a thorough understanding of any case and an absolute diagnosis of the conditions. These specialists through years of experience and their wonderful mechanical equipment can diagnose correctly nearly every doubtful and deep-seated condition.

The United Specialists have received numbers of testimonials from the citizens of Fort Wayne and vicinity.

Read the following from a prominent railroad man just received today. (Only one; they have hundreds of others.)

Nov. 12th, 1913.

I took treatment with the United Specialists for less than two months for a very bad case of rheumatism. In fact I was unable to do my usual work when I began treatment. I am a flagman on the Nickel Plate railroad, and I tried different physicians and sanitariums with out receiving any benefit whatever. Although I was confined to my bed for some time before I began treatment with the United Specialists; I am pleased to say that they have indeed done me more good than any one who has treated me and I am certainly pleased with the results that I have obtained, as I am now working every day. I make this statement so that my many friends may know what has been done for me; and if any of them are suffering from rheumatism or any deep seated diseases, I am sure that they will be pleased with the results obtained at the offices of the United Specialists.

A. H. BRANTON, 1520 Crescent Ave., Fort Wayne, Ind.

Many men who had formerly been treated for years have asked the United Specialists to refer other men to them. They treat all chronic and nervous diseases, including gonorrhea, rheumatism, all stomach and intestinal troubles, rectal diseases, epilepsy and all special diseases of men and women.

Their offices are located at 124 East Washington boulevard. They will examine the afflicted free of charge. They accept no incurable cases. Their hours are from 9-12, 1-5, 7-8 and 9-12 Sunday.—Adv.

There is a remedy. Forty years experience has proven unmistakably that

DR. PIERCE'S Favorite Prescription

SPILLED 118 GALLONS OF MILK

Precious Lactal Poured Over Depot Platform When Truck Careened.

INSPECTING G. R. & I. STATIONS

Supt. B. H. Hudson and His Staff Out on Richmond Line.

The highest cost of living in Fort Wayne was probably augmented some yesterday afternoon when 100 gallons of condensed milk and twelve gallons of cream were spilled at the Pennsylvania depot. The milk was shipped here from points south on the Grand Rapids and Indiana road on a train which arrived at 4:15 o'clock last evening. The milk was in large cans and while it was being transferred from the train to the Adams Express depot, a plank in the platform broke, one of the wheels of the truck dropped down and the milk cans fell over on their sides on the platform and poured their precious contents out. There were three consignments in the lot. One to the Fort Wayne Dairy company, one to the Furnace Ice Cream company and one to the Maumee Dairy company. The loss was complete.

OUT ON INSPECTION TRIP.

Division Officials of G. R. & I. Going Over Line.

The division officials of the Grand Rapids and Indiana are making a station and road inspection of the Richmond division. They left on No. 12 this morning, went to Decatur and inspected the property and then were carried to Winchester on a local freight, there taking a passenger train for another stage of the journey and going into Richmond on a later train. They will return here on No. 7 at 8:50 o'clock tomorrow morning. In the party were Supt. B. H. Hudson, Trainmaster R. E. Casey, Division Engineer C. L. Barnaby, Master Carpenter H. M. Large, Commercial Agent E. O. Wagner, Road Foreman of Engines A. L. Lonsbire and Assistant Trainmaster T. S. Fox.

IRON WORKER BADLY HURT.

Rebounding Piece of Boiler Plate Strikes A. F. Steinbacher.

As the last rivet that held a section of boiler plate in position in the collapsed coal docks of the Wabash was severed yesterday afternoon, it flew around and struck A. F. Steinbacher, a terrible blow. He sustained numerous cuts on the face and head, one particularly bad cut being over the eyes. Dr. C. F. Kaadt, the company's surgeon, attended the injured man. Mr. Steinbacher has been engaged with other boilermakers since last Saturday in taking the reverse of the coal docks apart preparatory to rebuilding it. He resides on Creighton avenue and is now at his home.

RYAN SUCCEEDS SINGLETON.

At a recent meeting of the Wabash Relief Union the resignation of Ben Singleton as secretary was read and accepted and John Ryan, a pipefitter at the local shops, was elected secretary. Mr. Ryan had been a director and as the rules forbid holding two offices, he resigned from the board and was succeeded by Frank J. Schwanz. As previously stated by The Sentinel, Mr. Singleton has gone to Decatur to take the foremanship of one of the departments in the new shops of the Wabash.

TO BUILD ANOTHER TRACK.

The Consumers Ice company is vacating a strip of ground at the Lake Shore depot which was occupied by one of the ice plant buildings. The railroad company has in contemplation the building of another main line through the city, in front of the depot, by revising the switching track now there and building another switch track. This arrangement will greatly facilitate the handling of passenger trains, which has grown beyond the adequacy of the yards. The work may not be accomplished until next spring.

VETERAN AGENT DEAD.

J. E. Harris, for many years connected with the Pennsylvania lines in Indianapolis as union line agent, died at 3 a. m. yesterday at St. Vincent's hospital. Mr. Harris was 70 years old and unmarried. He retired from active railroad work on a pension two years ago because of ill health and had not been well since that time. During the greater part of his twenty-five years of service with the Pennsylvania he had been in Indianapolis. The body was taken yesterday to Marietta, O., his former home, for burial.

FAST RUN FOR HEAVY TRAIN.

H. A. Durnell, Pennsylvania engineer, with engine 7518, took the Manhattan Limited, No. 23, which was fifty minutes late when it left Fort Wayne, into Chicago on schedule time yesterday. The train consisted of eleven steel cars. While the time consumed in making the trip was by no means a record breaker, few better runs with eleven heavy cars have been made, over the line and engineers say it was a very creditable performance.

SHIPPED BOILER TO ADRIAN.

The shipments from the Bass Foundry and Machine shops today included an 150 horse power tubular boiler to Adrian, Mich. It becomes a part of the power plant of the Adrian Knitting company.

TRAIN KILLS COW.

Pennsylvania passenger train No. 25 killed a valuable cow this morning. The bovine was struck on the first mile crossing station east of Valparaiso and thrown fifty feet.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

E. P. Kahoe, sick a few days, resumed work in the Pennsylvania erecting shop this morning.

P. J. Yeranko, a machinist, took employment at the Pennsylvania round house this morning.

Blacksmith E. W. Hans, of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty on account of the illness of his wife.

F. Wassan, a Pennsylvania car inspector who was sick two weeks, was able to report for work this morning.

J. Bettler, C. Bloom, J. Laughlin, F. X. Miller, G. F. Daoust and E. O. DesPres, Pennsylvania shopmen, are sick and off duty.

Pennsylvania Engineer W. J. Cunningham, who had been disabled three or four days, resumed work on the road this morning.

Lieut. L. F. Wood, who had been with Battery B at Indianapolis, resumed his duties as engineer on the Pennsylvania this morning.

Passenger Engineer R. H. Craig, of the Pennsylvania, has taken a ten days' leave of absence to look after some private matters.

Peter Riley, one of the passenger engineers on the Pennsylvania, was unable to take his run out yesterday on account of sickness.

After three or four days' quail shooting in the western part of the state, Pennsylvania Engineer W. R. Cowell reported for duty this morning.

P. T. Neuman, who had both wrists sprained two weeks ago while working in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, reported for work this morning.

Glaziers are at work today putting in the window lights at the new Wabash depot on Grand Street. The building is to be ready for occupancy by the holidays.

A. A. Arnold has returned from Paxton, Ill., where he spent two or three weeks repairing the machinery in a steam plant. Mr. Arnold is employed by the Bass works.

Engineer W. E. Munger has succeeded the late Engineer John Nickell at the throttle on the Grand Rapids and Indiana road. The run is one of the best viewed from an engineer's standpoint, between Fort Wayne and Richmond.

Machinist Allen Hamilton, who was off duty on account of the illness of his wife, resumed charge of his lathe in the Pennsylvania machine shop this morning.

Fred Hildeman, foreman of the passenger engine gang at the Pennsylvania round house, has a monstrous boil on the side of his face and was unable to show up for work this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Scheiman are moving into their home on Jackson street. They were recently married. Mr. Scheiman is a clerk in the shipping department of the Wayne Knitting Mills.

J. C. Benson, of the Frisco; C. L. Brown, of the Big Four, and J. E. Wilson, of the Lake Erie and Western, traveling freight agents, were in the city yesterday, calling on local agents and shippers.

Dennis O'Connor, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, will not be able to work for a week. This morning while handling some heavy pipes one of them fell on his right head, crushing the third finger.

One of fifteen employees of the Illinois Central, who were pensioned Nov. 1, was Stewart Hazlett, a locomotive engineer, said to have been with the company forty-seven years without missing a day's work.

The Tyson division of the Pennsylvania is accused by President W. C. Lee, of the B. & O., of violating the full crew law. Similar complaint is filed by Mr. Lee against the eastern division of the Nickel Plate.

Engineer A. J. Fritz, of the Nickel Plate, is confined to his home in Bellevue with injuries sustained in a fall from the cab of his engine. One of his ankles was sprained and he sustained injuries to his back also.

The Pennsylvania planing mills are being operated by their own power now. For two weeks the boiler fires were being renewed and the mills were driven by power from the main power house. The change was made this morning.

A charge of 50 cents a car by railroads for switching cars to private scales, unless the weights so ascertained are to be used for the assessment of freight charges, was held by the interstate commerce commission yesterday to be lawful.

Richard M. Shane, an Erie engineman, has been given a unique honor. In recognition of fifty years' service on his division his name has been inscribed on the cab of the engine that he runs. Mr. Shane is on the Cleveland-Pittsburg line.

The Clover Leaf has a force of men at work installing a block system from Decatur, Ind., to Ohio City. West of Decatur the line is protected by block system to the Illinois state line. Indiana compels all roads in the state to install a signal block system.

The home of Boilemaker V. A. Grooms, of the Pennsylvania shops, has been placed under quarantine because of the presence of diphtheria in the family. Mr. Grooms is also affected by the quarantine and will not be at work in the shop until it has been lifted.

L. J. Neuman, who resigned a position at the Bass works two or three weeks ago, took employment in the electrical department at the Pennsylvania shops this morning. He will serve as an electrician and lineman. F. J. Gary is a new laborer at the Pennsylvania power plant.

W. A. Hopkins, division freight agent of the Wabash, will preside at a noon-day luncheon of the Toledo Transportation club in the Boody house, in Toledo, tomorrow. Mr. Hopkins is said to be as good in making an after-dinner speech as he is in expounding the merits of the Wabash as a transportation line.

Bookkeeper C. L. Compere, of the Bass Foundry and Machine works, is afflicted with rheumatism, which followed an injury to one of his knees and settled into the member. Mr. Compere has been confined to his home three or four days and may not be able to get to the office until some time next week.

The good people of Peru have raised by subscription money sufficient to purchase a railway ticket to Altoona, Pa., and as soon as he is able to travel Harry Daugherty will start for that city, his home. Daugherty was robbed by three tramps and thrown from a Wabash train at Rick Valley three weeks ago and after lying helpless at the side of the road for an entire day and night, was found by a farmer and sent to the Peru hospital. He will soon be able to travel.

Ship-on $2.75 to $20 at the Patterson-Fletcher Co. store.

Theodore F. Thieme, of the Wayne Knitting Mills, has gone to New York to spend a week or two in studying the import market as it affects knitting goods. The revision of the tariff rates permits the importation of some of the cheaper knit goods at a price lower than they can be manufactured with profit at the local mills, though the tariff will not have any effect upon the higher grade of knitted goods, Mr. Thieme believes.

It may be necessary for the local plant to quit the manufacture of some grades of knitted goods that are now being made there, the management says.

Young men, we have received a large shipment of L. System black and white striped suits in the English models.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

SEED THEFTS ARE WORRYING FARMERS

Huntington County is suffering from epidemic of robberies of the clover seed bins.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 14.—Many rumors from the rural districts bring news of one of the most unique series of robberies that has been called to the attention of the local authorities for some time. Many instances have been reported of the thefts of cloverseed, the value of which amounts to high figures. Though no appeal has been made to officials, arrests are expected in the near future if the robberies continue, say county police.

From the vicinity of Roanoke comes word that in the last several weeks a prominently known farmer of the region surrounding the Jackson township capital has been the recipient of "buckshot" when found entering the cloverseed storage house of a neighboring agriculturist. It seems the punishment inflicted through the aid of the household shotgun was considered sufficient. The deed failed to reach the record books of authorities.

With the price of cloverseed ranging from $6.50 to $7.25 a bushel, temptations to obtain quantities of the precious product prove inviting. Little difficulty is encountered in disposing of the stolen seed, dealers being eager to purchase large quantities. Indications seem to point show that cloverseed ranks on a par with precious metals and jewels and should be placed in safety vaults.

A resident of the eastern portion of Huntington county said: "It's a good night's work when a half bushel of cloverseed is safely taken from the storage of a farmer. The amount will at least bring $3 and possibly near $4."

"Unless the farmer watches the premises closely at night or takes precautions against thieves, the seed may be stolen with much lessum on the part of the intriguing citizen. Sacks upon sacks of cloverseed may be hauled from the bins, situated at some distance from the home, during a dark night, during which the weather conditions prevent possibility of sounds."

MAY WIPE OUT ISLAND BUILDINGS.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 14.—Litigation, the results of which may prove the loss of the famed Island block, of Huntington, to A. G. Johnson, preacher, lawyer, inventor, landlord, who has won much distinction in local courts during the last few weeks, was started in circuit court, when a suit to foreclose a mortgage on the business block, situated in the middle of Little river, on Jefferson street, was filed. The real estate concerned in the mortgage case has attracted much notice throughout Northern Indiana, being built partly over a stream of water and, on an island. The buildings have received publicity a number of times and have been designated as fire traps by officials of the fire department. At numerous flood times the structures have been threatened with total destruction, but it seems have borne a charmed existence.

IS FOUND NOT GUILTY.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 14.—Charles Worley, accused of assault and battery with intent to kill his aged father-in-law, Phillip Schramm, a German carpet weaver of this city, was found not guilty by the jury. The trouble occurred on the night of August 9, when Worley threw the aged man to the floor, breaking his right hip. Unable to walk since that time, Mr. Schramm had to be conveyed to the court house and carried on a chair to the court room, that he might appear against his son-in-law, but in closing he said that Worley was one of the best friends he had and intimated that he did not want him punished.

TO ERECT REVIVAL TABERNACLE.

Hicksville, O., Nov. 14.—The plans have been matured to erect the big tabernacle for the union revival meetings which will be held here beginning about January 1. The building will be erected on the building and loan lot facing Main street and will cover a space 75x110 feet and will have a seating capacity for about 1,600 people. It will be equipped with a platform for a large choir and will be equipped with comfortable seats and warmed with large coal stoves. The uniting churches are putting a good force of enthusiasm behind this project and expect to make the influence of these meetings felt not only in Hicksville, but the entire community.

CITIZENS' TRIUMPH MAY BE FRUITLESS

Election of Dr. Clevenger as Mayor of Garrett May Be Invalid Because No Petition Was Filed.

Garrett, Ind., Nov. 14.—Although elected mayor of Garrett in the municipal voting, Nov. 4, as the candidate of a citizens' movement, Dr. J. A. Clevenger may not take his seat and Mayor George Schulthess, the defeated candidate of the democratic party, may hold over for the next four years.

This situation is due to the failure of the citizens' movement to file with the city council a petition to place Dr. Clevenger's name on the ballot. At the regular meeting of the city council City Attorney Edward M. McKenna gave it as his opinion that a serious question existed as to the validity of Dr. Clevenger's election and he advised the body to conduct an inquiry into the affair.

City Attorney E. M. McKenna told the council Tuesday night that he considers it questionable as to whether Dr. Clevenger was elected, and he advised the council to look into the matter and administer the affairs according to the findings.

It was agreed the council should not take the initiative and that the city should go to no expense in settling the controversy.

Dr. Clevenger stated that he deems himself legally elected until it is proven otherwise, and that it is not his duty to test the matter.

Mr. McKenna believes Dr. Clevenger must prove his right to the office and his qualifications to hold it.

Mayor Schulthess takes the stand that the matter should be settled by competent authority and that he will simply await the outcome.

It cannot be foretold whether the question will be dropped or prosecuted, but it is probable that the courts will be asked to make the necessary decision.

MAY BE HICKSVILLE MAN.

Hicksville, Ohio, Nov. 14.—A press dispatch from Los Angeles states that in an automobile wreck which happened near that city and in which four persons were killed, one of them mentioned is Irvin Chapman. Los Angeles is the home of Dr. Irvin Chapman, so well known around Hicksville, and it is feared he is numbered with the dead. Dr. Chapman is one of the noted preachers in the Presbyterian brotherhood, a man of great ability in his church and a strong temperance advocate. His many friends in this vicinity are greatly disturbed over the report.

The verdict was returned in open court, fixing the punishment at a fine of $50, with thirty days in jail. A request that the jail sentence be suspended during good behavior was made in the verdict by the jury.

BUTLER MAN IS DEAD.

Butler, Nov. 14.—At his home on East Main street, this city, Peter Teusch, aged 63 years, passed away after four weeks' illness. He was born in Salisbury, France, March 22, 1850, and when ten years of age came to America.

One Cause of Bad Complexion—the Cure

(From a Family Physician.)
"Look at a skin under the microscope and you will readily understand why cosmetics generally injure the complexion," says Dr. H. Robert Mackenzie. "The skin, smooth as it looks to the naked eye, under the glass exhibits a lacework of tiny holes, mouths of myriads of little glands. To keep the skin healthy these holes must be unobstructed, that the perspiration and natural oil can have free outlet. Should the glands be blocked up with irritating gritty particles, a common result of using powders and creams, nature retaliates by causing sallowness, roughness, blotches or pimples."

"As a substitute for all cosmetics I recommend ordinary macerated wax. It not only does what the various face preparations are supposed to accomplish, but its peculiar absorbent action frees the pores from the daily accumulation of impurities, also absorbing the devitalized particles of surface skin. This produces a natural, healthy, youthful complexion. One out of a skin, to be had at any drug store, usually sufficient to rejuvenate the poorest complexion. It is put on nightly like cold cream and washed off mornings."

DRINK LANDS HIM IN PRISON.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 14.—Joe Montgomery appeared before Judge Powers charged with grand larceny. Montgomery is a young fellow about twenty-three and worked around the B. & O. railroad shops in Garrett, spent his money for drinks, lost his job but not his appetite.

He had no credit in the saloon and he had to get money some way. Last Monday night he broke into the Betts news stand and cigar store and got about thirty dollars. He goes from one to fourteen years to the Jeffersonville reformatory, where he will have no chance to satisfy his craving for drink.

WAS STRICKEN SUDDENLY.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 14.—David Libby, a well known farmer of Preble, suddenly dropped dead while driving to this city with his wife to attend to some trading. Mr. Libby was born in Ohio sixty-five years ago. He moved to this county during the civil war and when about twenty-four years of age, locating in Kirkland township. Later he sold his property in that township and moved to Root township. Several months ago he moved to Preble, at which place he resided up to the time of his death. Mr. Libby entered into the bonds of matrimony three times during his life, he being survived by his third wife, who was formerly Mrs. Belle Swigart.

WAS HURT IN FORT WAYNE.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Glade Everett was hurt in Fort Wayne when she fell in front of an approaching rig. Though the farmer who was driving made an effort to turn aside, he could not entirely get away and two wheels of the buggy passed over Mrs. Everett.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 14.—Among the Noble county farmers' wives who help their husbands and their neighbors in the corn fields, Mrs. Irene Hossinger, wife of Joseph Hossinger, near Avilla, is, so far as known now, the champion woman corn husker of this locality.

Tuesday Mrs. Hossinger was husking corn on the Martin Parr farm, northwest of Avilla and made the remarkable record of binding up, and shocking twenty 100-hill shocks of corn in the short space of seven and one-half hours. Mrs. Hossinger began work at 7 o'clock in the morning and by 3:30 in the afternoon she had her load hauled in, having taken one hour off for dinner.

FIRE IN BIG COAL HEAP.

What's Your Money Worth?

Q You business men don't figure money at its face value. You can't. Your cash is only worth its earning power. Isn't that true?

Q All right. The Solo-Apollo costs more than other player pianos. Go and hear it. Compare it with other makes.

Q Then figure just how much a year, the difference between what the Apollo and the next best player costs, would bring you at seven per cent. Then you'll realize that the features you get for the difference you pay make the Apollo your only choice.

Q Here are a few of the features that make the Solo-Apollo worth more than its price. No other player piano possesses them. It accents the melody. It touches directly down on the piano key. It revivifies the music without pedaling. Gives perfect dynamics without using levers or buttons. We can't begin to talk about the Apollo here. Write for particulars.

DREAM OF WEALTH REALIZED AT LAST

Youth Falls Heir to Half
Fortune of Father He Never Saw.

HAD TO GO IN COURT

Grayling, Mich., Nov. 14.—From poverty and the obscurity of a little country town to a fortune of $2,000,000 is, in a sentence, the Aladdin-like story of 21-year-old Elvin Lechappelle, of Grayling. Within a few weeks the young man will enter into his share of the estate left by his father, a millionaire lumberman of Northern Wisconsin.

The boy has been living with his grandfather, Delbert Taylor, since he was a child. His mother was Mary Taylor, and she was married about twenty-two years ago to Joseph Lechappelle. The young Frenchman was hot-tempered and they quarreled within a month of their wedding day. He left Grayling at night in a rage and never returned.

Secured a Divorce.
After the birth of her son the young mother felt called upon to support herself since her father was poor. She secured a divorce from Lechappelle, and entrusting Elvin to her father, left Grayling. She is married again, has raised another family and resides in Wisconsin.

Her former husband was an experienced woodsman, and when he left her went to an obscure lumber camp near the northern boundaries of Wisconsin. He rose through the successive grades of lumberjack and foreman to timber cruiser, and then to speculator in timber lands.

He bought large tracts of heavily timbered country when pine was cheap and did not sell until years later, when it had become scarce and dear. He also married again, and one son was born to the second marriage.

The millionaire died recently and word eventually reached Grayling that Elvin was heir to part of his father's estate. His grandfather investigated the report somewhat, but was too poor to establish legally Elvin's claim. The boy's chances to share in the fortune were dwindling when R. Hanson, Grayling's foremost citizen, heard the rumor and interested himself for Elvin.

Shares With a Half Brother.
He took the boy to Detroit and secured a competent attorney. Investigations were prosecuted in Wisconsin, and Elvin's relationship to the founder of the Lechappelle fortune was conclusively proved. As a result, the estate is being wound up, and Elvin will share equally in the $4,000,000 estate with the half brother he has never seen.

Elvin has had a common school education, and was putting behind him his boyish dreams preparatory to settling down to a life of hard work. Now, however, the dreams have been brought out and refurbished. He has announced that he will give a maiden aunt, who acted as housekeeper for her father, Taylor, and was almost a mother to the boy, half of his money. With the balance he expects to "have a good time," and is choosing his itinerary for a tour of the world. With him will go two Grayling chums, young men of his own age, whose expenses he will pay.

"You know," said Adolph to Wiegand, pausing before dipping his brush into the paint pot, "it has been a strange thing about my sons. Not one of them had good health. And see me. I never was sick a day in my life. There must be better stuff in the people of the old country. Well, when I die, I want to go quick."

Wiegand heard a crash at his side, and turned to see the ladder on which Goebel had stood toppling to the ground. Dr. Miller came from the New York hospital and pronounced Goebel dead. He had not been killed by the falling of the ladder, the doctor declared, but death was caused by apoplexy.

HELD AS "BLUE SKY" ARTISTS.

Three Indiana Men Accused of Extensive Swindles.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—William H. McGilgan, Nathan McLaughlin and Alma H. Lips of this city, alleged members of the "blue sky" swindlers and conspirators of Decatur county were turned over to the Decatur county authorities today. The trial was arrested here yesterday on indictments from Decatur county. Chief of Police Johnson, of Greensburg, made the statement that the three were connected with Dr. C. Pagel, Greensburg; Wood Ketcham, a justice of the peace; George Bruce, an attorney and other members of a "close corporation," which has obtained more than $100,000 by selling real estate and farm land they did not own and by concealing mortgages on real estate which they sold. Johnson said the operations extended over a period of three years.

Strike of 2,500 Skilled Employees Ties Up Southern Pacific.

COMPANY WILL FIGHT

Houston, Tex., Nov. 14.—No disorder had been reported today among the 2,500 skilled employees of the operating department of the Southern Pacific lines between El Paso and New Orleans who went on strike last night. Aside from two transcontinental trains said to be enroute, reports indicated general suspension of traffic.

Just before the walkout went into effect an offer of government mediation was received at union headquarters last night. The employees' leaders replied that the only possible way to avoid a strike was for the railroad to meet the federated committee of the four unions involved—the engineers, conductors, firemen and trainmen. Such a conference had been the main point of the railroad's objection during negotiations.

The company today was said to be preparing to install strikebreakers with the aim of restoring passenger train service at least. Places for housing such employees are said to have been arranged at different points along the Sunset lines.

President W. R. Scott, of the Sunset Central lines, defended the roads' attitude today, pointing out the object of one of the employees' grievances—that against the making of efficiency tests at unexpected places—as designed to insure greater safety to life. The employees' sixty-seven complaints involve demands for reinstatement of many engineers and others declared to have been discharged in violation of contracts; alleged excessive imposition of demerits and lack of regulations of layovers away from home terminals.

An examination, however, showed that he could not undergo an operation and was spared the ordeal.

Mr. Millikin came to Fort Wayne six years ago from Norfolk, Va. Surviving he leaves two brothers and one sister—George W. Millikin, of Rockville, Md.; Charles T. Millikin, of Norfolk, Va.; and Mrs. Lucy Emrich, of 1406 Hurd street, Fort Wayne.

Traffic Under Bridge at the Wabash to Be Resumed Saturday, Nov. 22.

THE MUNICIPAL NEWS

At 5 o'clock in the evening, Saturday, November 22, through a street car track will be resumed on the Broadway line. This was determined upon at a conference held today by the board of works with S. W. Greenland, general manager, and J. J. Brennan, superintendent of the traction company, and H. A. Gerberding, vice president of the Moellering Construction company. The meeting took place at the track elevation at Broadway and the Wabash railroad, where the present status of the work could be carefully gone over and possibilities thoroughly canvassed. It was agreed that conditions would be practicable for resuming car service by one week from tomorrow night and that time was fixed. For several months car service on Broadway has been interrupted at this point by the track elevation work and car patrons have been forced to walk a distance of two or more squares to continue traction carriage.

The traction company has its west track completed and paved with brick. The Moellering company will complete the pouring of concrete under the bridge for the city's work by Monday evening if the Wabash makes reasonable progress with its upper slab work so that the last of the piling may be removed. As soon as the concrete work is disposed of the city will put in the west sidewalk under the bridge. It is believed the entire west side will be completed in a week or ten days, if the weather does not interfere and soon thereafter the street will be opened to general traffic.

SEWER BUMPS ARE ASSURED.

Board of Works Adopts Resolutions for Lakeside Improvement.

As rapidly as the legal procedure can be disposed of, contracts awarded and the work prosecuted the project to install sewer pumps in Lakeside will be carried forward to completion. The board of works last night adopted resolutions for the improvements and expect that within a few days engineers for pump manufacturers will be here to aid in plans for the system.

Property owners interested in the improvement made contributions to a fund to pay the damages demanded by two remonstrants against the proposal to open a street between Delaware and Forest avenues, from Kentucky to Bayard, and the resolution was confirmed. It has been held up a long time by the two objectors, who thought their damages had been assessed too low.

But nine of the twenty-seven property owners on Lawton place remonstrated against the resolution for an ornamental lighting system from Spy Run avenue to the St. Joe river and the board confirmed it. The board postponed for one week action on the assessment rolls for ornamental lighting on Wayne, Washington and Jefferson streets, from Harrison to Clinton, which were up for confirmation.

The franchise for the Perfection Biscuit company's steel chute over Webster street was granted and will be signed and go to the city council.

The resolution for the widening of Harrison and Baker streets at their intersection was adopted. This will be done by clipping a triangular section from the property at the northeast and the northwest corners.

Assessment rolls were confirmed for paving McClellan street, Baker to Brackenridge; sidewalks on south side of Organ avenue, Indiana to Broadway; sidewalks on south side of Sutenfield street, Calhoun to Lafayette; sidewalks on north side of Kinnaird avenue, Fairfield to South Wayne; sidewalks on both sides of Rumsey avenue, Richardson to Harrison. A resolution was confirmed for vacating Sylvan street and alleys in Lakeside to permit replating and the new plat for Anthony boulevard place was approved. Primary assessment rolls for paving Calhoun street, Wildwood to Rudisill, and for paving the traction company's right of way, Scott avenue to the Bluffton road bridge, were approved. The latter work cost the traction company $20,000.

CONCRETEING AT HARRISON.

Moellering Company Begins Work Under the Pennsylvania Bridge.

The Moellering Construction company today began placing concrete on the roadway of Harrison street, under the Pennsylvania bridge and it will not be long until the work from the northside will be carried as far as it can go until the Wabash railroad people get busy with their bridge. When that will be no one is even guessing. No money will be available for the work until the federal court authorizes an expenditure for the purpose. The Wabash agreement stipulates that the road shall have its elevation work completed not later than 1914 and it has plenty of time, but the work on the Pennsylvania end of the opening will be almost completed this year, and if the Wabash were as far along, doubtless the subway could be opened for traffic in a few weeks.

TO SELL NUTS BY WEIGHT.

Promise has been obtained by City Sealer C. B. Tolon from all of the fruit stand proprietors in the city to sell Christmas nuts by weight instead of by dry measure, as has been the almost general custom heretofore. Inspection of scales in the fruiterers' stores was satisfactory. Four coal wagons inspected yesterday were proved to have delivered consignments that were overweight.

WORKING OUT A PUZZLE.

The board of works is trying to find a solution to the puzzle of how to give the people who own property on old Dayton avenue a street of sufficiently commodious width and at the same time avoid making two or more bad jobs.

Land for new Dayton avenue has been tendered by the real estate firm of Higgen and Schaaf, and this would give a straight stretch of fifty feet in width the whole length from Fairfield avenue west. The old street is but twenty-five feet in width, except that portion between Indiana and South Wayne avenues, which already is fifty. The board would prefer to use the donated property and have a straight street, but the property owners on the old street protest.

INTERVENTION IS SURE, HE THINKS

Newspaper Man, Just from Mexico, Believes It Inevitable.

AS BAXTER VIEWS IT

American intervention in Mexico is as sure as death, according to Ernest Hamilton Baxter, who arrived here yesterday on his way from the Rio Grande to his home in New York. He is a newspaper man of wide experience, who for the past six months has been on both sides of the international border and during that period gained many original ideas.

That United States troops will be in the southern republic within thirty days and that they will wreak a terrible vengeance upon the Mexicans for their treatment of Americans who have been forced to stay in Mexico during the troubles that he believes are leading to war, is another of his beliefs gained from intercourse with American troops with whom he mingled along the boundary line.

"Mexico is a nation of nearly 20,000,000 people," he said. "It will not be a picnic for this country to win a fight with the people to the south. It is estimated that it will take between two and five years to end a war, once it is begun, and army officers agree that 250,000 to 300,000 men will be required in the fight.

"As a rule Americans do not realize the seriousness of the situation confronting this country when it begins an attack on the Mexicans, but the men in power at Washington understand what intervention means and that is one of the reasons why it has been thus far delayed.

"However, we are now pretty well prepared and I look for trouble immediately, if Huerta does not step down and out."

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.—Ad.

GOES 3 MILES IN WINNING A WAGER

Carried 125 Pounds of Grain That Far and Did Not Stop.

BUT BETTERS QUIT

Omaha, Nov. 14.—Henry Wahl is just an ordinary plain Iowa farmer, but he is too smart for a number of men about the South Omaha Exchange building and also too strong. On a $100 wager Wahl carried 125 pounds of oats three miles without pausing to rest. When he reached the end of his journey, near Twenty-fourth and Center streets, he tossed the sack of oats into one of the automobiles that accompanied him as if the grain were a mere paper bag of peanuts.

"If there are any more who want to do any betting I'll carry that sack of oats back to the Exchange building for $100," said he. Stockyards men are notorious for betting. They will wager that the sun will shine in the next ten minutes or stack up their money on the points of a horse or the number of straws in a bale. But none of them cared to take that $100 for the back trip. Wahl looked lit for the undertaking. It all started in the Dudley office when two men began to tell how far they could carry a 100-pound sack of corn. Wahl, who was in with a shipment of cattle from his farm, offered $100 that he could carry a sack of oats weighing 125 pounds one mile. When there were no takers he pressed the distance to three miles. His money was soon covered. The Dudley office force offered to back him for another $100, but could not find a taker. Altogether, though, there was upward of $500 wagered on this novel feat of strength.

Wahl is 34 years of age and weighs 175 pounds. He came to Iowa from Germany in 1890. Some years ago he picked up 500 pounds of corn and carried it a short distance. This is still talked of in his part of the state. The three miles with the oats were traveled in forty-eight minutes.

He does not pose as a strong man and does not look the part. He is just an ordinary farmer. His cattle sold well and he was feeling contented with the world generally; that was why he made his bet, first more in good humor than otherwise, but when he found that it was taken seriously he went through with it.

Sam Clausen, John Murphy and Frank Bigsby accompanied the man with the pack as judges, riding in Chuck Cox's car. A large number of other yard men accompanied Wahl, many of them walking. The trip started at the Exchange building.

Wahl's little stunt shows that the age has not become one entirely of weaklings as yet. He does not believe in woman suffrage and has never heard of eugenic marriages, or if he did, has forgotten about it.

There are hundreds of other farmers in the country who could do the same thing accomplished by Wahl. At least the winner of the wager himself thinks so. Plenty of plain food and farm work is the only strength-builder needed, he says.

Washburn, Wis., Nov. 14.—Roused from his sleep by firemen who battered down the door of his bedroom while the house was filled with smoke, Thomas Hendrickson, a pioneer resident, the other night remonstrated with them for disturbing his slumber.

When the blaze was extinguished Hendrickson was found in his room asleep in a rocking chair. He was awakened and told that his house was on fire.

"Well, my goodness," tartly expostulated the old man, "can't you make less noise?"

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 14.—Louis Gebmann, charged with abandoning his wife, Anna, 304 Maple street, and one child, was placed on probation for two years. "We are going to give you a chance, Gebmann," said the court, "but every time you take one drink we are going to bring you into Probation Officer Fife's office and give you a thrashing. Remember, now, for each drink you take you get a thrashing." Gebmann agreed to abide by the decision and said he would go to the priest and take the pledge.

Jewelers Utilize Hide of Once Famous Beast.

New York, Nov. 14.—Queenie, who used to be an elephant, is now pocket-books. A downtown jewelry firm placed in its windows dozens of leather purses made from the hide of the once famous pachyderm.

She was about 150 years old when she was killed a couple of years ago because old age had made her temper uncertain. She was a contemporary of Jumbo and was brought to this country in 1840. She was in various museums and was at the Hippodrome at the time of her death. Queenie's skeleton is in the Museum of National History. The jewelers bought the hide and the pocket-books are the results.

WOMAN KILLS HATPIN BILL.

Acting Clerk of City Council Permitted to Give Decision.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 14.—Legislation planned by members of city councils to place a ban on the long, dangerous, and unguarded hatpin when wearing was killed by the voice of Miss Emma Schwager, a clerk in the office of City Clerk Fred Gates, when the members of select council decided to permit Miss Schwager to vote for them.

A resolution was introduced in the common branch placing a ban on hatpins and demanding that the points each be guarded to prevent injury to persons on crowded streets and in crowded street cars. The resolution passed the common branch, and when it was taken up for consideration in the select branch, Miss Schwager happened to be acting as clerk of council.

She did not attempt to influence vote on the question, but the members of the council decided to get her views, and finally it was suggested that she be allowed to cast the vote for select councilmen.

All hands agreed, and promptly Miss Schwager said, "The vote is not concurred in," and this meant that the resolution was killed.

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT DANDERINE

Girls! Girls! Save your hair!
Make it grow luxuriant and beautiful.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots flanch, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made. We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?—Adv.

An Everyday View of the Next Sunday School Lesson

Lesson text, Deuteronomy 31:1-8, 32:48-52, 34:1-12. Golden text, Psalm 118:15, "Precious in the sight of Jehovah is the death of his saints."

The time came for Moses to die. His sun was touching the west and there remained nothing further for him to do. It is an old saying that man is immortal until his work is done. Moses was born to live. The edicts of Pharaoh failed to touch him. His little ark was sailed by a compass unerring as the finger of God. He was now an old man and knew it, but his years sat lightly upon him. Friends noted his strength and declared that his natural force remained unabated. But the old man knew better. He recalled the former days and he realized that he was no longer what he had been. One day he assembled the people and rehearsed in their hearing the history of Israel for the past forty years. Together they retraced their steps, under the cliffs of Horeb and by the shores of the sea. Nothing was omitted. Every chapter held the same old story of ingratitude and sin. Sinai, flamed anew and the thunders once more voiced the law of God. It was a resurrection of the past and a foreshadowing of what was to come. Farewell Address of Moses an Outburst of Praise and Hope.

That address holds a place unrivaled in literature. It was delivered at the very brink of the grave and yet contains nothing gloomy, nothing sad. Instead of sentiment peculiar to farewells in general, there is an outburst of hope clear as the chorus of the stars. "And Israel dwelleth in safety," in a land of grain and new wine; yea, his heavens drop down dew. Happy art thou, O Israel."

From the beginning Moses had followed the assurance of God. No promise was ever permitted to fall by the wayside. His achievements were the expression of faith. He lived as if he saw the invisible. The past is the best earnest of one's future. The Almighty had been with him on the desert and the sea, and to his care Moses commended the people. That was faith.

We have all to a lesser degree experienced the same thing. Who at times has not felt himself hedged in by walls that reached to the very skies? Our Canaan remained as a promise whose realization lay in the far distance. In the walls of the present there were no gates in sight and yet we plodded on. By and by the walls receded or gates were opened in the most unexpected way. Such, we believe, has been the experience of very earnest Christian. The age of Moses is never past.

Not Alone Sin at Kadesh That Barred Moses From Canaan.

The heart of every Israelite must have thrilled as he listened for the last time to his leader. "I am an old man," he said, "one hundred and twenty years old this day, and can no longer go in and out." And then, lowering his voice, he added: "Also the Lord hath said to me, 'Thou shalt not go over this Jordan.' The sin at Kadesh came back to disturb him. There he had snuffed the rock and failed to sanctify God.

But this was not the only obstruction to the promised land. That God should have so punished his servant for a single mistake is an idea hard to accept. Moses himself did not so regard it. His 120 years and his inability to do his work had much to do with it. Kadesh was more a symptom than a sin. Meekness had been Moses' reigning virtue. This he lost when he snuffed the rock. Impatience is an evidence of irresponsible age. The scepter of self-control was no longer held with a certain hand. Moses had outlived his power, and with it his usefulness.

God never leaves himself without a witness or a workman. Joshua had been the understudy of his master for over forty years, and the time had come for him to assume his place. There was no envy on the part of Moses. In the presence of priest and people he placed his mantle upon the shoulders of his successor and in the name of God bade him be strong.

Twice did God meet his servant by the shores of a river—once for service and once for reward. From the Nile to the Jordan—what leagues of history lie between! The writer recalls once hearing the late Dr. John H. H. pray, "May we so live that when we come to die we shall have nothing to do but to die." Moses had so lived, and he died under the direction of God. The biblical account is simple. He went up from the plains of Moab to the mountain of Nabo, where God met him and pointed out the land promised his ancestors centuries before. And there he died, and God buried him in the valley, but no man knoweth of his sepulcher unto this day. Some scenes transcend art, and this is one. Tradition and Legend Busy Themselves With Death of Moses.

But tradition and legend have not hesitated to invade the sanctity of that mountain and dissipate the halo that gathers about it. According to Jewish history, he made the ascent in sight of the people, whose demonstrations of grief evidenced the deepest sorrow. The elders who accompanied him were finally dismissed and when he was about to embrace Eleazar and Joshua a cloud swept by and he vanished from sight. Another legend represents the highest angels in heaven as having been summoned to receive his soul, but they hesitated through fear. Finally the angel Death approached with his drawn sword, but he saw engraved upon the lawgiver's staff the ineffable name of Jehovah. Sparks issued from his lips and his face shone like the morning. Death fled in terror and Moses was left alone. But the destroyer returned and Moses prayed to be delivered from his power. God heard his prayer and sent three angels to receive his spirit. They prepared a couch and Moses was laid upon it. An angel lay on either side and one at his feet. Moses clasped his hand and God with a divine kiss removed his soul. His grave also remained as a fruitful source of legend and story.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. It may seem strange that no mention is made of immortality in connection with the lawgiver's death. But that was reserved for another mountain and a later day. For he was to appear again.

G.V. Electrics

Electric Trucks vs. Horses

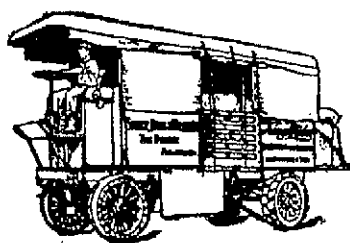

The best City draft horse lasts on an average but four years, which means that his annual depreciation is 25%. Pretty steep, isn't it? 1,708 horses died from the heat in Greater New York in the first 15 days of last July. As high as 25 ice-maimed horses have been shot in a single day by the police and the S. P. C. A.

Are your horses fully insured?

The Electric Truck has 100% greater working capacity than the best draft horse grown and requires 75% less housing space. A G. V. Electric never gets sunstroke; it does not have to work alternate days only; it gets no broken legs, never gets sick or runs away; is cleaner, surer and cheaper than the best combination of horses ever devised.

You can drive a G. V. Electric into a freight elevator and load or unload it on the desired floor without fire risk, odor or dirt. You can equip a G. V. truck with an electric winch operated by the truck battery and elevate heavy cases or warp machinery on and off it. You can buy a G. V. Electric in any one six standardized sizes, ranging from 700 to 10,000 lbs. capacity, and operate the one best adapted to your needs, singly or in fleets, at from 25% to 60% less than a corresponding quota of horses.

WHERE APOSTLES FISHED.

The abundance of fish in the Sea of Galilee continues to this day to be the wonder of travelers. For the most part the fishing done by the Syrians involves the use of nets, probably identical in construction with those of the Apostles, and the best evidence that the fishing throughout all these centuries has been accomplished by these nets is to be found in the case with which the greater part of the fish may be delivered with the aid of any bait, natural or artificial. The pellicled water of this lake, with its ever-changing reflections, is in striking contrast with the muddy depths of the River Jordan. The silt in that stream, however, does not seem to inconvenience the fish, which are extraordinarily plentiful, even in the lower reaches before it falls into that deadly lake which the Arabs call the Sea of Lot.

PLUMAGE CAUSED THE ERROR

Naturalists Have Discovered They Were Wrong in Idea About New Zealand Bird.

Since birds frequenting flowers for honey or insects are apt to get their heads covered with pollen, and since the pollen of different flowers varies in color, a bird may become yellow-headed, red-headed, blue-headed, etc., according to season. This circumstance led to a curious mistake in the case of a New Zealand bird, a honey-sucker and a hunter of flowers. In the early summer it visited most frequently the flowers of the native flax, and later in the year fed chiefly on the fuchsia. The pollen of the former is red, and of the latter blue. Hence in the early summer the bird appeared with a red head and was named the red-headed honey-sucker. But when, later in the year, it went to the fuchsia, its head was stained blue, and it was called the blue-headed honey-sucker.

MANY ELIGIBLES FOR INCOME TAX

Collector Sharp Returns from Visit at State Capital.

HE IS COMPLIMENTED

Low P. Sharp, deputy revenue collector, returned from Indianapolis Thursday evening and announces that a full line of income tax blanks will be here and ready for distribution throughout the Fort Wayne revenue district by the first of January. Mr. Sharp is confident that the Fort Wayne district has as many, if not more who must pay income tax of 1 per cent, as any other district in the middle west having the same population.

While at Indianapolis Mr. Sharp was informed that the moonshine still captured by himself at South Bend last Saturday, is the first moonshine outfit landed by revenue authorities in northern Indiana in seventeen years. Other stills have been taken, but not for moonshining. Most of them were confiscated because the operators had persisted in dodging the bond payments required by the law.

The Fort Wayne revenue district contains fifty-nine counties and practically all of the collector's time is occupied in traveling over the territory. Mr. Sharp was highly complimented by the state officials for having captured the South Bend still and arresting Joseph Brolik, its owner.

Central Committee on Safety First Comes on Saturday.

THE STATE MEETING

The central safety first committee of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company will hold a meeting in Fort Wayne tomorrow at the general offices of the company in the terminal building. Announcement is made today that the session will be attended by the city superintendents of the car system at Lafayette and Logansport, agents at Peru and Wabash and the trainmaster and officials of the city lines in Fort Wayne.

The annual fall meeting of the Central Electric Railway association will be held November 20 and 21 at the Hotel Severin, Indianapolis, and will be attended by all officials of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company. Chief Clerk Snyder, in the office of General Manager Sam W. Greenland, has returned from a visit with relatives in Ohio. He intended returning Monday, but was delayed on account of the storm.

NOT WELL SUITED.

He was trying to sell a wind-broken horse, and after trotting him around for inspection stroked the horse's back and remarked to the prospective buyer: "Hasn't he a lovely coat?" But the other noticed that the horse was panting, and answered: "Ah, I like his coat all right; but I don't like his pants."
